Northrop High School welcomes

Miss Todd, our new principal

This year at Northrop has been a very different year in many ways. The change of Papa Bruin to Mama Bruin was one of the biggest. Miss Sandra Todd, our new principal has put in a lot of hard work and dedication for Northrop. The 1975 yearbook staff would like to dedicate this year's "Bear Tracks" to Ms. Todd who is the only female principal of a secondary school in Indiana and we are proud to have her as our guiding light.

In her address at the beginning of the year, she stressed humanism which is one of the things schools lack.

Sandra Todd has made many moves to improve Northrop this year and the students will agree, that she is to be commended and Sandy we do!

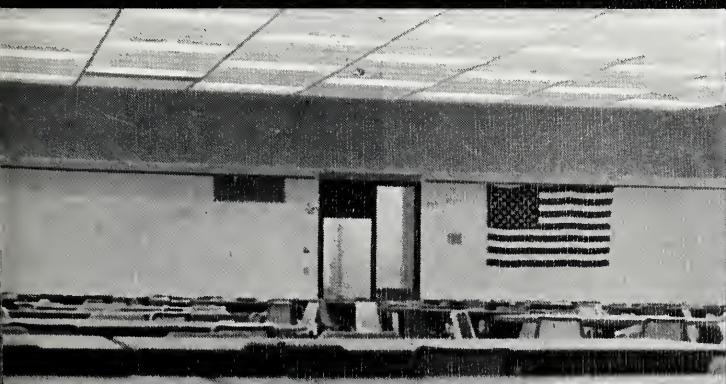

I am Northrop High School

I am Northrop High School. Within my walls that hold a thousand memories, are my pride and joy - my friendly students. Every morning at eight o'clock I open my doors to them. I watch my family through the busy days as they work . . . and play. On and on . . . the pulsating life continues: wrestling crowds at noon . . . clanging lockers . . . last minute themes . . . clicking typewriters . . . smells from the chemistry lab . . . couples going together . . . exodus of friends . . . hearty handshakes with returning alumni . . . unsigned passes . . . written excuses . . . echoes of familiar tunes . . . clashing cymbals . . . sweet aromas emanating from the Home Ec room . . . spreading rumors of prom secrets . . . rousing pep sessions . . . and well-planned assemblies. All these and hundreds more spell my home for them.

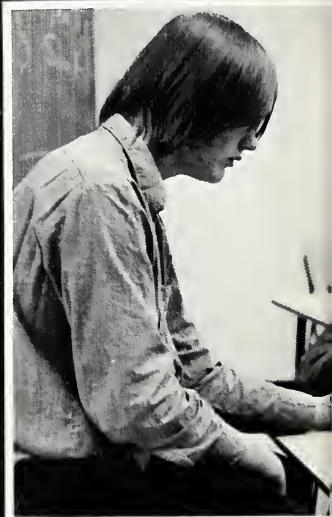

Inside our structures, we become individuals

Kim Bill and Marcia Dance, seniors, take movies for their film class.

School can be fun too, as you can see above, these guys play chess for kicks.

Classroom work can be interesting!

and our personalities take shape

Jerome Guy and Norma Wade look forward to lunch time because it's a time for leisure.

We Came...

We with our eager eyes
and polished faces

We came alone
but one in a sea
of the faceless many
as one

We with our hopes and dreams...

we with our
fears and longings.

6'10" Maurice Drinks poses for the cameraman.

In the end, it is not a place or building,

Walking through halls—cold and hard,
Distant classrooms and closed doors,
Early morning comes far too early,
Tiredness fills the air
For one more day.

but an interaction of thoughts and memories

Enter the room of voices and faces.
Morning begins to break.
Turn to say a word or two,
Gaze into a smiling friendly face
And the coldness is no longer there.

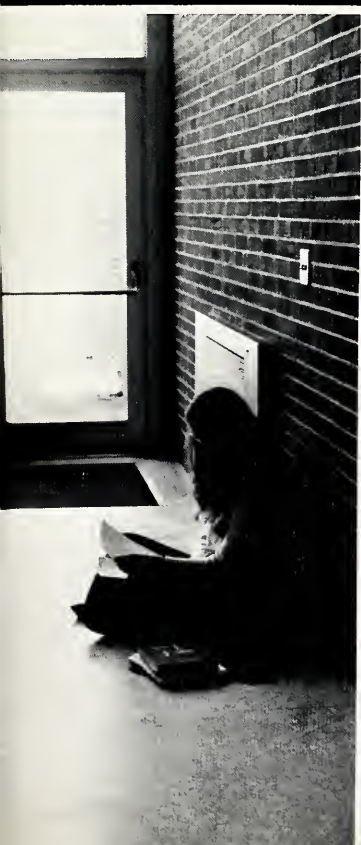

Sometimes I wanted to be alone

and sometimes
 I wanted to be alone
 to escape the others
 I looked for a glimpse of my own
 reflection
 Solitude
 a wonder of ideas
 memories
 dreams
 I sought the personal
 the unique
 and found myself changing

Poetry is: expressions, innervisions, thoughts,

As he sang...

I felt the pain...
the tears that fell.
I heard his heart, as it cried out loud...
...such a lonely sound.
I could feel his mind, going back in time...
...remembering as he sang...
his voice filled with sorrow.
Forgetting there will be a tomorrow...
...living only for his memories of yesterday...
of a girl gone away.
The woman-child that held his hand...
...the child that led him to a peaceful land.
The woman that made him become a man,
then leaving him alone...
...like a child with no home.
To dwell in his broken mind...
...and remember another time...
as he sang.
When a woman-child held his hand...
...and the boy he once was...
...became a man.

Diane Foote

People

together, individual
Living, Loving, hurting
Take a closer look
People

I look on the table.
Spilled wine from last night's odyssey
And goodtime's left over ashes
Take me alone to a faraway universe
And back to a present sound of mind.
Special meanings and sentimental feelings
Prevent me from taking the time to remove the wine
And wash away yesterday's moments.

Kim Thomas

Moods

Open my mind.
In it you'll find:
fountains and mountains,
open seas, perhaps a breeze,
pomp and splendor, girls that are slender,
depression, recession, condescension
some pain, a stain, rain on the brain,
hats and cats, whores and botes,
household chores, bleeding sores,
stepped on rights, little kid fights,
laughs and cries, clear blue skies,
pollution, revolution, a solution,
moratorium, a sanatorium, craziness, laziness,
relief, belief, grief, a falling leaf,
all I've read, all I've said,
all I've done, all I've sung,
mellow blue, (yellow too),
and you.

Hank Hankey

Love
a small word
but to me
its like a cloud
in the sky passing by
they always do you know.

Patti Severine

A walk in the park
You throw
Snowballs
at me
And I turn to see you hiding
behind a tree.

It's the little things you do
That make me want to stay with you,
But I'm afraid
That love is not my game

Don't you know
That a broken heart is no fun
Love's not fair when it comes to losing

It sinks your ships
And turns your dreams
To dust.

Joe Marshall

Early Morning

As the morning began to rise
I started to view the world very differently than ever before
I walked down from the porch steps toward a place in the sand which the gulls had uncovered
Leaving a perfect seashell lying open and vulnerable.

The waves had subsided just enough to let the driftwood slowly wash
to shore.
The rocks no longer had their sinister effect
And the sea foam fell in ripples against them
While pebbles in the sand looked to be the scattered, uneven freckles of a child.

Salty air came across the open beach
Naked except for nature's gifts and mys
The wind was starting to chill and as I climbed the steps to my door
I saw the morning sun peeking at me from behind sinking granite.

Got up this morning
Feeling good and black
Thinking black thoughts
Did black things
Played all my black records
And minded my own black business
Put on my best black clothes
Walked out my black door
And, Lord have mercy! White Snow!

Jaci Earley

Seagull

graceful, free
soaring, rising, feeling
Headed for boundless skies
Seagull

Rain trickling on my roof
reminds me of the time
you walked barefoot across my soul.

Patti Severine

My life is mine to do with as I please,
To rock, to roll, to live my life with ease.
I'll go to shorelines, hearing oceans roar,
And see, the birds in flight, and so much more.

I'll sing out loud and clear with all my might
To stand for my beliefs and what is right.

I hope to someday share my life with you,
That you may someday find those treasures too

emotions, reflections, and a part of ourselves

Independance

I am now independant
No need for pain
No need for love
For I have felt it all before.

I was too engrossed with your statue-like appearance
And your face straight out of a magazine
Losing all conscienceness of what I was all about.
Ideals and truths that I had once possessed
Wasted away just waiting to be rediscovered.

In the past few weeks
I've given it much thought
Of how I used to be
And the transition of my mind.

I've taken sometime to talk to myself
To sit on my own and sort my thoughts
To return to my former state of mind
With much work and mental effort
For I am now strong, I am independant.

Happiness is like a crystal, fair, exquisite and clear.
Broken in a million pieces, shattered, scattered far and near.
Now and then along life's pathway, some shining fragments fall,
But there are so many pieces, No one ever finds them all.

Lucinda Miller

Fulfillment

I am utterly content,
In all my being is no nerve of unrest.
For I have opened unto you the Wides gates of my being,
And like a tide, you have flowed into me.

Lucinda Miller

Worry

Is like a distant hill,
A glimpse against the sky,
I wonder how I will ever,
climb a hill so high.
Yet, when I reached it's peak,
I see the roadway left behind.
It is not as steep and sheer,
as pictured in my mind.

Lucinda Miller

Sometimes I think I know you
As well as I know the sun
I wish I could find you
Like I found myself.

One night during Spirit Week a bonfire is held here at Northrop and everyone gets fired up!

Tug-of-war is one of the main attractions.

Shown below is a group called Petra, who played at Northrop's outdoor concert.

Spirit, enthusiasm fill NHS during Homecoming

Liane Vachon, Mr. King, Laniece Key, Bill Hudson, Margaret Wesner dress up for 50's day.

Everyone comes alive during Homecoming Spirit Week. Monday started off great with Lick-em Day which proved very tasteful. Tuesday was a fantastic day to use your imagination. It was hat and sock day. Bruin Day came next. This year the guys got the little bears and the girls had to talk the guys out of their Bruin bears and it was an unusual day. On Thursday a lot of your friends didn't quite look their usual selves. The girls wore longer skirts and bobbie socks. The guys had their hair slicked back for Fifties Day.

The pep session, brown and orange day, and finally the game made Friday an eventful day.

During the week there was another type of inter-class competition and that was hall decorations. Seniors were awarded the winners, (of course).

Nothing can describe the mounting enthusiasm, spirit, emotion of Northrop's Homecoming Spirit Week.

Guy Fortier, Phil Roach, and Co. decorate senior halls during homecoming for Spirit Week.

Pam Mason crowned 1974 Homecoming Queen

There can be no sight more attractive than this "line up" of the candidates for the 1974 Homecoming Queen flanking Queen Pam Mason.

The third annual Homecoming at Northrop was held October 27, 1975 at Spuller Stadium. The evening's activities started with the football game against the Wayne Generals. During the half-time the Homecoming Court was presented and Pam Mason was crowned the 1974-1975 Home-Queen by Marianne Ferraro. After a striking Northrop win a victory dance was held in the gym.

Action abounds as the orange helmeted Bruins close in on a hapless Wayne General.

Pam Mason just has time to change from her cheerleader uniform to join the festivities as Queen.

Yell it out, Band! This is Homecoming so look sharp, play good, and yell out where you're from.

Jump up and shout, Bruins gonna win this rout!!

A bonfire featured a tug-of-war and high spirits.

Right on, Band! as long as the Bruins keep scoring those touchdowns, you keep ringing that bell.

Just as all the other years at Northrop, the Northrop Drama Department put on a fall play. By all means, it was one of their best performances. With no slip-ups in lines or staging, the play went fantastically smooth.

Dr. Julian Winston, a young venturesome dentist was played by Hank Hankey, a senior. He puts himself in quite a bit of girl trouble which takes quite a bit of lying to get out of. One of his so called best friends who causes him more trouble than anything, was Harvey Greenfield, portrayed by Steve Elmer.

Along with the two male leads, were also two female leads. One of which was played by Jayne Kierren, in which she portrayed the part of Toni, who captures the interest of young Dr. Winston. The second lead went to one of our most experienced actresses, Janine Griffiths, who took on the part of the cool, meek, and mild nurse who has fallen in love with her boss Dr. Winston (He really gets around!) The remaining cast was, Denise Lohrman, Ron Seigler, Cindy Guard, Steve Elmer, Pam Butler, Aaron Soellinger, Bill Shaw, and last but not least Phil Duffy. To summarize the play, it was a fabulous hit and will never be forgotten by its cast or audience!

"CACTUS FLOWER," a big hit

Pictured above is senior, Jannine Griffiths, who played the part of the meek and mild nurse.

The 1974 fall play cast for 'Cactus Flower': left to right, Steve Elmer, Pam Butler, Hank Hankey, Janine Griffiths, Denise Lohrman, Aaron Soellinger, Bill Shaw, Cindy Guard, Jane Kierren, and Ron Seigler. It was a fabulous hit and will never be forgotten by its cast or audience!

Ron Seigler, a senior, portrays his talent well.

Seniors, Steve Elmer and Pam Butler, cause the most trouble, but at the same time have fun.

One of the leads was played by Janine Griffiths our most experienced actress.

Dr. Julian Winston, portrayed by Hank Hankey.

Jayne Kierren, plays the part of Toni, a lead.

The cast of "Hello Dolly" could certainly be proud of the success of their efforts for one of the best dramatic productions at Northrop.

'Dolly' Levi plays to packed houses with success

Julie Johnson was originally cast as Dolly.

Katie Wong reacts in shock as he becomes involved in a game of hide and seek with his boss.

Sheryl Bechtelheimer proves that dance instructor is one of her titles and a well deserved one.

Some clouds lurked around the edge of the stage as there were comments that the roles and scope of the production were too demanding for a high school, but the rapid progress made in rehearsals cleared the skies. Then thunder and one of the most feared theatrical lightning bolts hit the cast the week before opening.

Julie Johnson, cast as the lead, Dolly, was not going to be able to play the part! She developed a throat condition and was told that strain could result in serious if not permanent damage.

It was up to the sophomore understudy, Sheryl Bechtelheimer to take over the role and see that the show went on. And she certainly did! "Hello Dolly" played to packed houses and broke all records for a Northrop Musical for attendance.

It would seem that the male staff of the best night spot in New York know and more than a little bit admire Dolly Levi now that "Dolly's BACK!!!"

Price is no object as Dolly spends some of the oldest money that was ever saved in Yonkers, New York.

Denise Lohrman added a bright spot when the scene began to get too serious.

Etc. '75 offered a variety of talent under the

Aaron Soellinger and Bob Domer, the M.C.

A circus would not be complete without animals and clowns!

The Tiger-ettes, left to right, Julie Campbell, Kim Cook, Nancy Brunner, Sue Smith, Julie Kempke, Carrie Rudig, Sandy Middleton.

Big Top

Aaron Soellinger and Liz Shupe sing 'Indian Love Call' during Ect. '75.

Jon Clark is a well balanced kid.

Ken Church, Mark Wolfe, Chris Sidwell, Joe DeCamp, display their musical talent.

This year Northrop's student body put on a talent show with the helpful patience of Del Proctor and James Purkhiser. This years show theme was circus life mainly behind the scene life with Bob Domer as the M.C.

With such feature delights as big bird, by Blake Isaacs, the show was loved by both young and old.

This years show was in one way special, part of the funds raised were put towards the Fort Wayne Children Zoo for the addition to the Zoo.

Though all the acts didn't always lean towards the theme of circus, they were all in great order. Some acts ranged from a modern day drama routine to song routines from the 'twenties. One of the bigger acts was the parade at the end which everyone in the show participated. It truly was the "Greatest Show On Earth"!

I.U.-Purdue Ballroom provides Northrop belles and Julie Johnson reigned as the queen of the 1975 prom with its romantic 'Just You and Me' theme.

Cheryl Joder is presented as a queen candidate.

Some dances are so old you know where your feet are as to where your feet should go.

Come up and join the festivities as the Northrop prom moves out of school for the first time ever!!!

All five queen candidates wait nervously as the band fanfare announces the proclamation.

Beautiful people, Beautiful clothes, and then there are Beautiful flowers for the prom

beaus with evening of romance and excitement

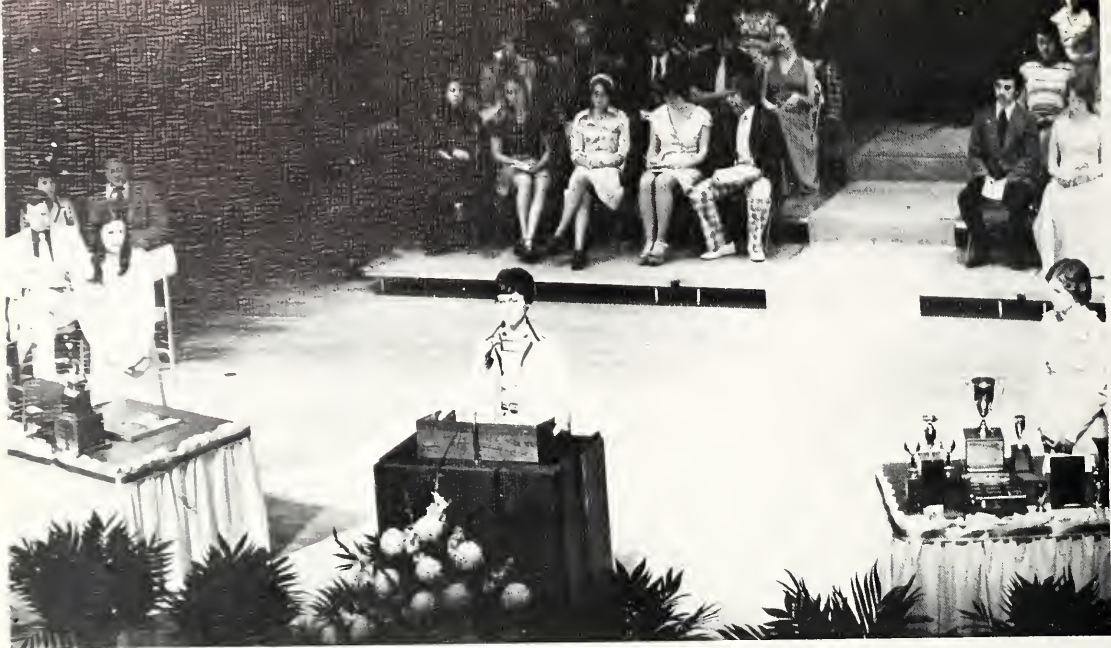

Sandy Miller and Joe Maupin are here to dance.

The 1975 Junior-Senior Prom was held at I.U. Purdue Ballroom this year. The theme this year was 'Just You and Me'. The evening proved very romantic with couples dancing to the fabulous Dick Seeger Band. The highlight of the Prom was the crowning of the Queen, Julie Johnson who became Northrop's fourth Prom Queen. The belles and beaus of the ball had an exciting evening!

Groups of your own friends can make the prom even more of a night to remember with memories galore.

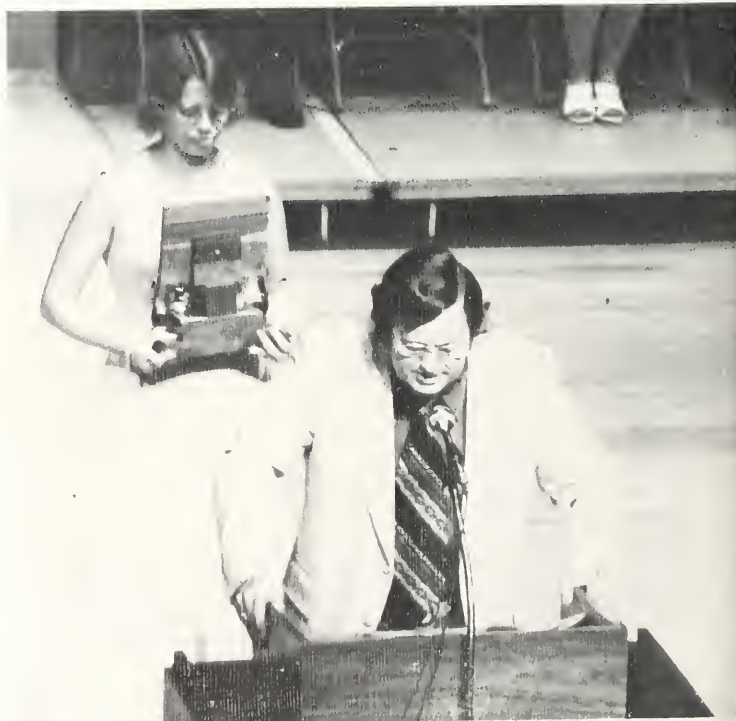

Capping off a year that stressed the academic at Northrop, Principal Sandra Todd addresses a crowd auditorium as she opens the Senior Recognition program.

Senior recognition gains class and comfort

Northrop's class of 1975 was marked by an increase in the stress placed on academic, so it was no surprise when there were strong changes in the traditional Senior Recognition program.

To lend solemnity and comfort to the evening, the site was changed from the Gymnasium to the auditorium. All of the seniors who were being honored by the various departments and groups were seated on the stage with those who were to be presenting awards.

In her key note address, Principal Sandra Todd remarked on the wide range of skills and talents represented on the stage and in the auditorium and reminded the group that humanism and academics had been the theme of the year and she then congratulated the seniors on the way they had succeed in keeping with the ideals all during the school year.

Sandra Middleton examines her vocal music award as Mr. Don Gerig details how she earned it.

Valedictorian Tom Drake proves that athletic skill and academics do go together as he accepts the big trophy from Mr. Mark Schoeff for letterman's high grade point as Co-Sals Patty Mertz and Cindy Lambert look on from their seat of honor on the stage.

Mr. Barrie Peterson represents the business staff.

A new location on the stage gave rise to new arrangements for both seating and decor as the cool auditorium replaces the hot gym used in the past.

Graduation night fills seniors with joys, fears, hopes,

Hold high the torch!
In your strong hands
The future lies today.
Hold high the torch!
Its light may help
Others on the way.

The world needs young
And steady hands
To guide it right today.
And loyal hearts
And steadfast minds.
Be it yours
To lead the way!

Seniors eagerly await their name to be called to receive their diploma.

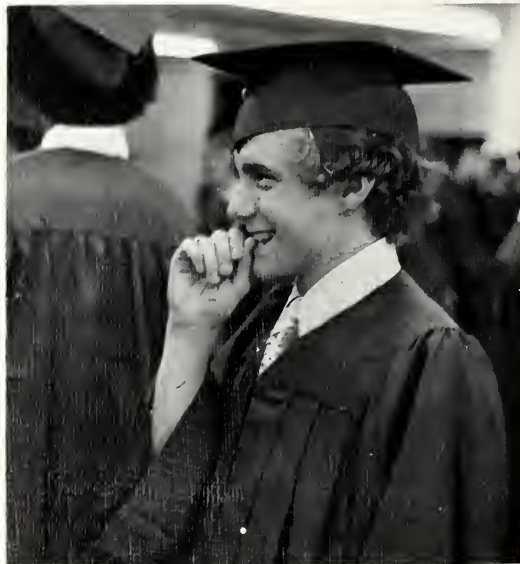

The first two rows of graduates were occupied by the top ten percent.

It was the evening of June third. The girls with rollers in their hair the guys were running around looking for matching socks. "What's going on?", you may wonder.

June third, 1975 marked the fourth annual commencement ceremonies for Northrop High School. Miss Todd presided over the ceremony with Tom Drake, Valedictorian giving the invocation. The night went by, but not without leaving many memories behind. The class of 1975, with 568 graduates was the largest graduating class in Northrop's history.

Congratulations Seniors!

Tom Drake named Valedictorian ; Cindy Lambert and

Tom Drake-Valedictorian

Cindy Lambert-Co-Salutatorian

Patty Mertz-Co-Salutatorian

Tom Drake was named Valedictorian for the Northrop class of 1975. He maintained the highest academic average in his class while being active in both sports and community affairs. Tom was a member of the Bruin Golf team and won the most improved award. He also was third in the Indiana junior PGA tourney. Tri-Kappa honored him with an award as did IU with a high achievement scholarship. He was also a member of a Medical Explorer post.

Salutatorian honors were shared by Patty Mertz and Cindy Lambert as they ended their high school careers tied for academic averages. Both were editors for 'Whats Bruin' and both were also members of the Northrop trackettes.

Patty was Sports editor. She is active in music playing in the marching and concert bands and in the pit orchestra and in the regular orchestra. She was the Chamber of Commerce's Distinguished student during this past year.

Cindy was News editor for 'Whats Bruin' and was active on Northrop's Speech team. She also belongs to the National Forensic League. She was involved in the Explorer's Law program and was a winner of the Tri-Kappa Award.

Congratulations Tom, Patty, and Cindy for a job well done.

Seniors say good-bye to Northrop !!

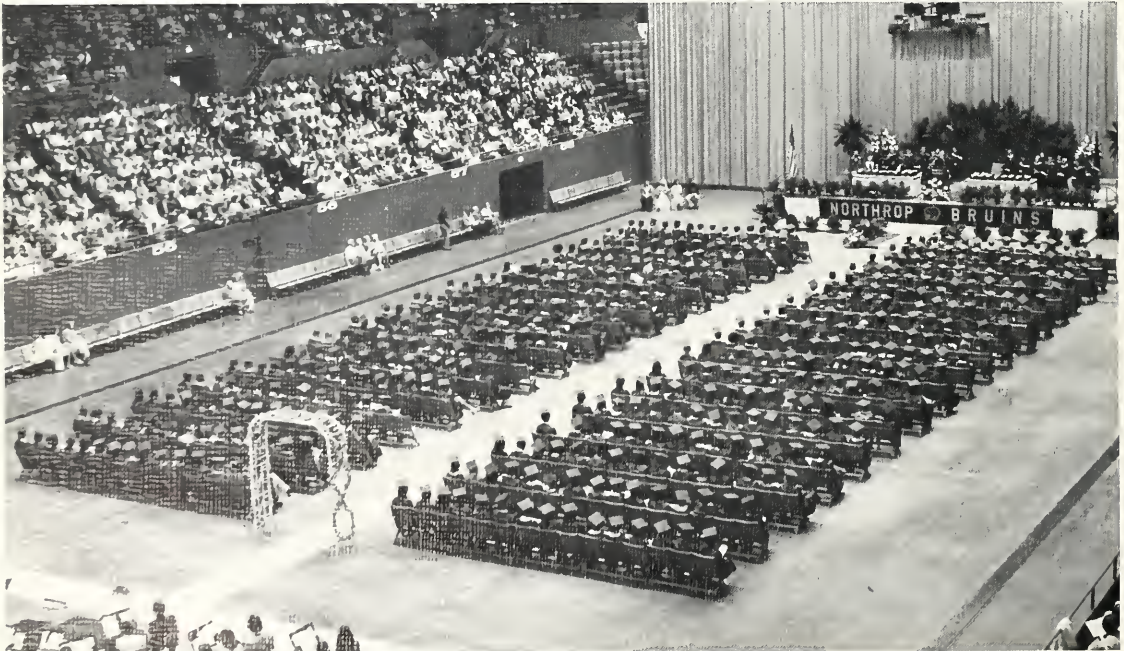

As you stand from afar, all you may notice is the square structure of our building. Yet as you walk through our hallways, personalities start to form. For we are all individuals. In our time here, we met many different individuals. We shared moments of glory, and times of defeat. The class of 1975 has much to cherish as they leave behind many memories for Northrop High School as a whole, to remember them by.

Along with regular class activities, there was the Senior Breakfast, the Honors Banquet, Senior Recognition, and the long awaited Commencement Ceremony.

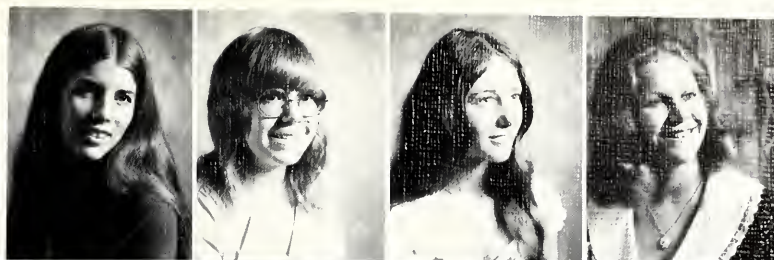

There were many changes with graduation this year. Even in the ceremony itself. The seniors of today, will be the leaders of tomorrow. With graduation came all the tears and fears of tomorrow will hold for them. They will leave behind all the memories and friends of yesteryears. For they know, when they grasped a hold of their well deserved diploma, they also have grasped ahold of all future promotions. And may God be with them in their decision makings.

Darrell Togashi and Dave Southern, both juniors, work together in English class. They are reading out of an English Sentence book.

writing, poetry, individualized reading

Students work together to form a skit in Greek Myths class.

The Moffet Program is a course designed for Sophomores. The idea behind the program was to enable them to work singly or in groups to make the most use of communication skills in exploring subjects of interest to the students.

The Northrop Speech Department was host to the Regional Speech Tournament. Several of Northrop's students won awards.

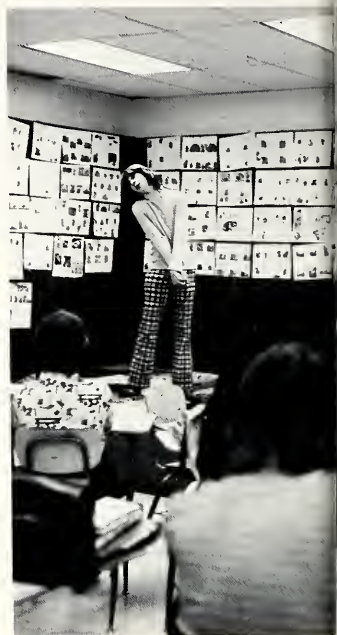

The Child's Literature class went to three grade schools, two Montesouri schools, and several guest speakers were invited to the class. One of the speakers was from the Witte School, a pre-school for the physically handicapped. Another speaker was from a Montesouri School and one more from Indiana University who spoke about sex-role socialization.

There were many field trips taken this year. The Mythology Class had their first dinner at Peters Restaurant. The Shakespeare Class went to Manchester College to see Much Ado About Nothing. The Adventure Class went to see the film Murder On The Orient Express. The film Making class went to the Spectator theater to see Oedipus Rex and Citizen Kane.

Speech, drama, journalism students show special

Mrs. Williams, writes on the blackboard, while students copy it, in child psychology class.

Rob Hire, sophomore, is doing his own version of Little Red Riding Hood in speech class.

This sophomore English class studies out of a college spelling book to improve their spelling.

Tom Barkely and Brad Oren, both juniors, made puppets to put on a puppet show in Child Theatre class.

Keirns, a junior, Liz Wise, a junior, and Mary Crumback, a senior, all worked on spreads to put into the yearbook. In order to meet their deadlines, members of the 'Bear Tracks' stayed after school, worked during other classes, and even came in during spring and summer vacation.

Tammy Smith, sophomore, writes down information for the newspaper article.

Perkins and Denise Davis, both juniors, together in Afro-American literature class.

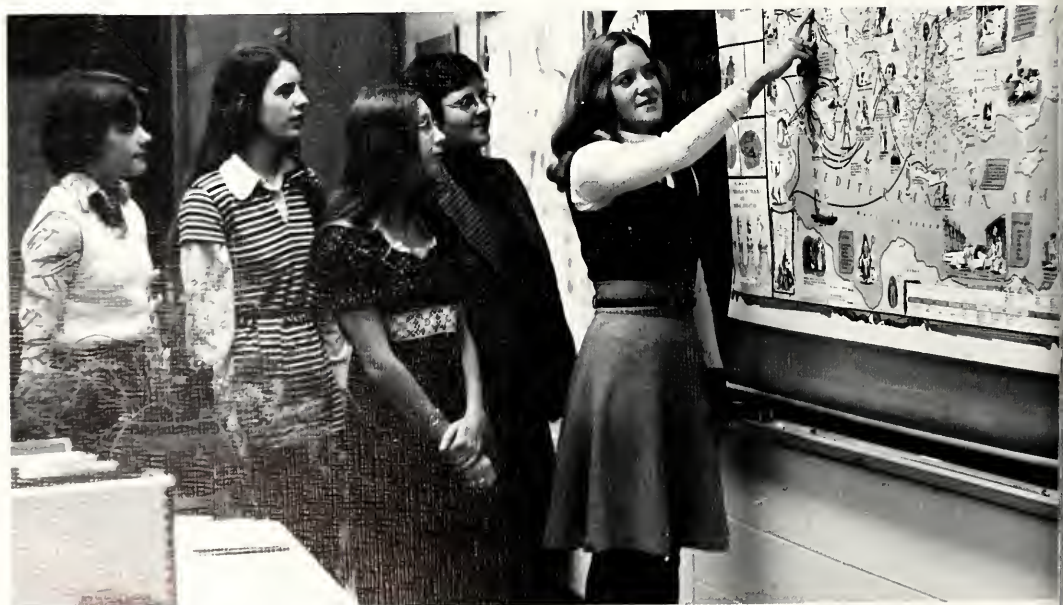

Students travel to Spain and attend International

Diane Spillner, a junior, sings a Christmas song in Spanish.

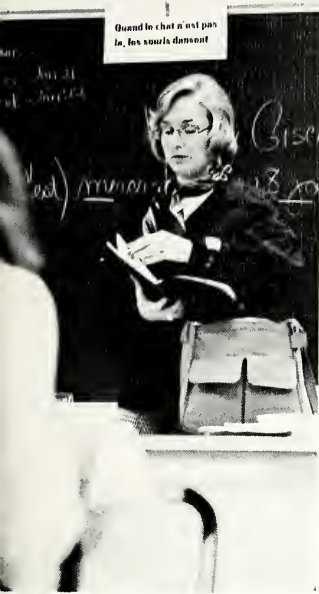

Students play a game in their Latin class. This game helps their Latin vocabulary that they might use in their schooling or in their future careers.

sical League trip to Rome and Pompeii over Spring vacation.

Harter teaches students the best way to pronounce French words.

Students do one of the many dances that were danced at the International Banquet for the Foreign Language students.

Banquet for Foreign Language students

Students attended the International Banquet which Northrop's Foreign Language Department sponsored in April.

During spring vacation, Julie Brunson and Desiree Fry went on a Junior Classical League trip to Rome and Pompeii. They brought back pictures and souvenirs to show their friends and classmates.

There were many speakers who came to talk to the French, Latin, German and Spanish classes. Al McGee, a student from North Side, had been a student ambassador in Luxembourg; Dr. Christine Seiler showed a film and discussed the life and customs of Germans; Francoise Reybet, a French exchange teacher told about French schools, food, sports, and customs. Jan Ekman, a student from Sweden, showed pictures from Sweden and discussed the Swedish culture.

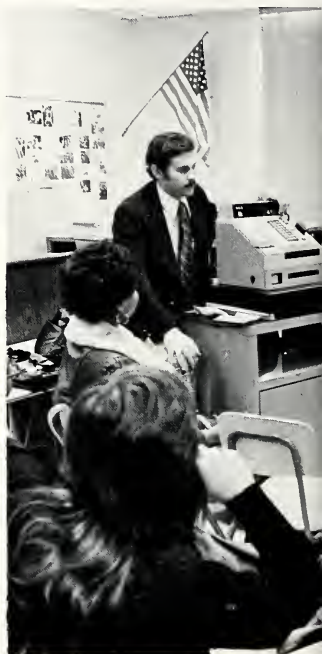

There were two special activities this year. The advanced Latin classes made an animated cartoon of "Goldilocks and the Three Bears" and the French classes viewed a famous novel by the French writer, Dumas.

The main event was the first International Dinner which was held in April. Northrop students served dinner Roman style. Dancing was the Entertainment, which included a French folkdance, a German polka, a Latin American cha-cha-cha, and Latin acrobatic dances.

Students learn skills in Data Processing and Cheryl Coak, a junior, is working hard on her assignment and trying not to make any errors. Along with everyone else, Cheryl is typing on an electric typewriter for more speed.

Mr. Matthias, the D.E. teacher, is showing the students how to operate a cash register.

Ronda Meiteri, a senior, is working hard on a punched card in Introduction to Data Processing. She is planning fields and putting the information on the punched cards. The Data Processing students also learned of early computers, the language of the computers, and much much more.

Marsh Mullholand, a senior, is in her second year of shorthand class. She's listening to dictation tapes to improve her speed.

This year the Business Department was busy teaching students the vast fields of business that they will use in future careers. The head of the department was Mr. Robert Dellinger.

A new course available this year was Introduction to Data Processing which was taught by Mrs. Hawley. This class was only available for the second semester. Students enrolled in this class learned about early machines such as calculators and early computers. The students also learned how to mark punched cards, the computer language (binary code), and a large variety of other information.

C.O.E. (Cooperative Office Education) students learned the practical jobs in the office. Most of the C.O.E. students are placed in jobs where they get a lot of on the job experience. All C.O.E. students are required to enter at least one contest in their specific area. At the Stage Office Education Association of Indiana, Cindy Falls placed first in the Individual Student Job Manual, and Deb Bercot placed second in the Individual Student Job Manual and second in the Office Duplication Master Preparation. Deb Bercot and Cindy Falls went to the National Competition at Chicago from May 10-14.

Pat Fox is working on fields for a computer program punch card in Data Processing class.

Debbie Jennings, Theresa Christman, Rose Meyers, Debbie Dickerhoof, and Claudia LuEllen are all typing on electric typewriters in Mrs. Hawley's Cooperative Office Education class.

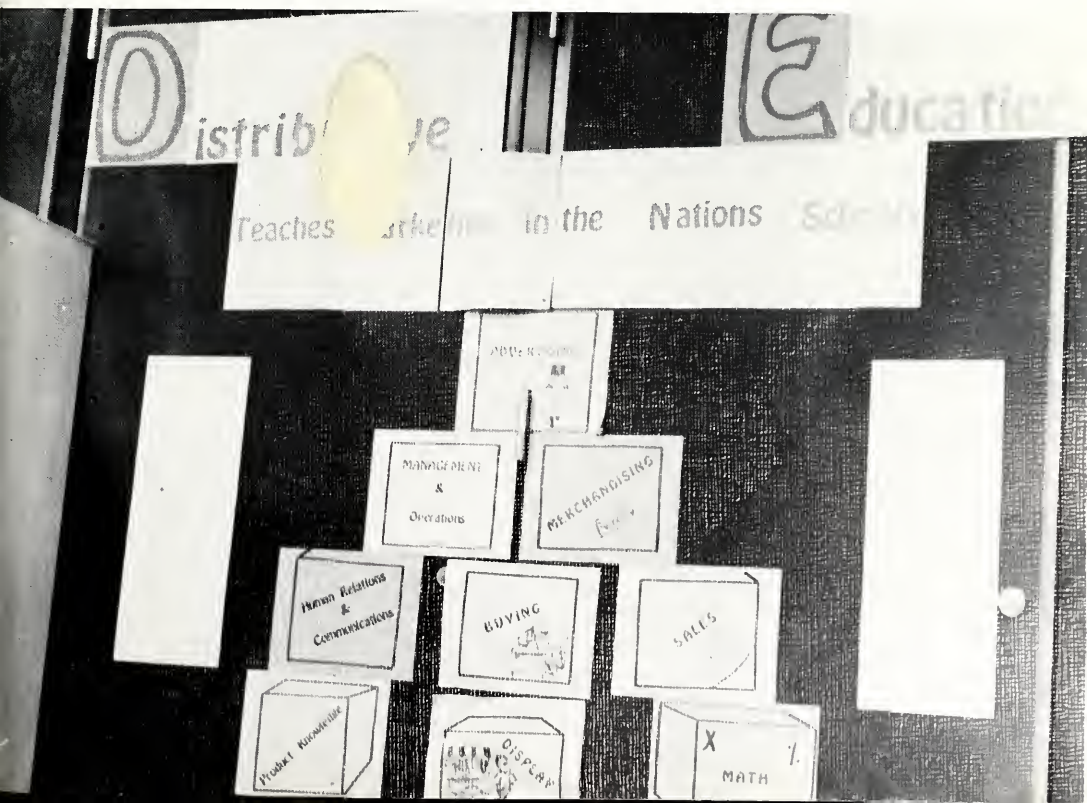

Sherry Rudig, a senior, is working on her office manual for Cooperative Office Education class. Sherry is typing on an electric typewriter which helps her speed a great deal.

Mr. Walters shows Bobby Nard why his debits and credits don't equal in Accounting class.

Many students worked on bulletin boards during Distributive Marketing class. This picture shows the different branches used in teaching marketing throughout the nations in the school. The students also decorated the D.E. display window to match the goings on in the school.

Many students competed and won trophies for their

There were many new things that the Math students participated in this year. This year's Math department was headed by Mrs. Leonna Plumanns.

The Fort Wayne Community Schools sponsored a problem solving contest for the first time this year. Three Northrop students received trophies. Guy Fortier, a senior, received one of the three senior trophies. Mark Thompson, a junior, received the trophy for the outstanding junior. Roger David, a sophomore, received the trophy for the outstanding sophomore.

Seniors Guy Fortier and Ron Behling and Juniors Mark Thompson and John Halbert participated in a Mathematics Field Day at Manchester College in April. This was Northrop's first competition that they participated in. The students finished seventh out of twenty-three schools. After the written part of the competition was completed, Mark Thompson finished first place in one of the game areas.

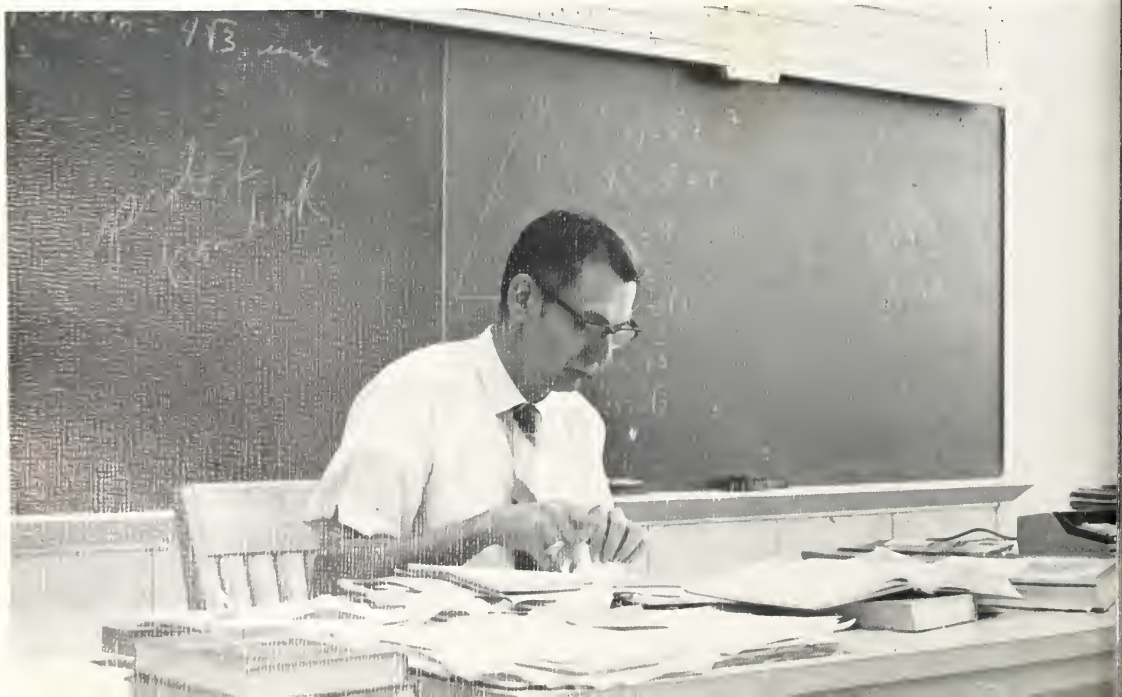

In March, Northrop Mathematics students participated in the annual National Mathematics Test which was sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America. The highest score made by a Northrop student was made by Guy Fortier, a senior. The second highest score was made by Lisa Landess, a junior and Mark Thompson, a junior, made the third highest mark.

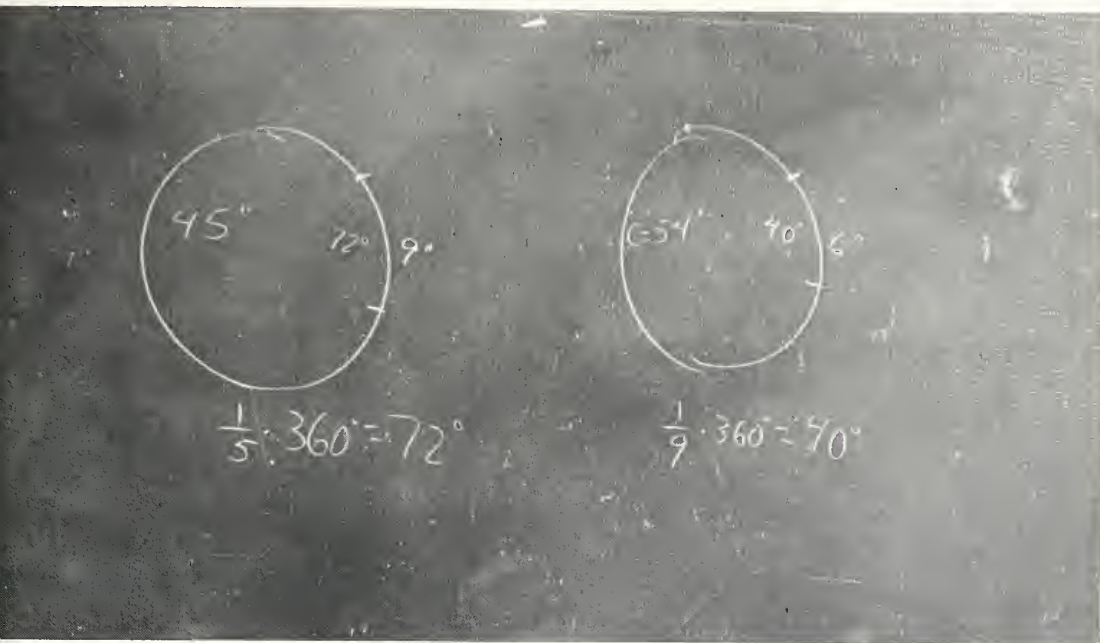

Steve Frappier, a sophomore, turns to check with his classmates to see if he did the problem right. Steve is trying to find the length of side AC in his beginning Geometry class.

Mr. Glen Bickel works hard to finish grading his students test papers.

While he grades the papers, the students work the problems on the board.

Achievements in the field of Mathematics

The problem on the board is involved with a circle. The students are trying to find the radius, diameter, and also the circumference.

Clay Reeves, a sophomore, does a Geometry problem on the board. Clay is in Mr. Bickels Geometry class. Theorems are only one of the many things that the students studied this past year.

Mrs. Plimmons helps two of her Advanced Algebra students with a problem.

Helicopters, hot air balloons, and the study ...

The Science curriculum of Northrop this year was on a very wide scale with courses ranging from Earth Science to Aerospace.

Aerospace, being a new course, was very intriguing to many students. Much to the students belief, Aerospace was a very interesting course with speakers visiting the classes. The speakers included Mr. Bob McComb, who is a famous local talent in acrobatic flying, and also a few speakers from the Federal Aviation Association.

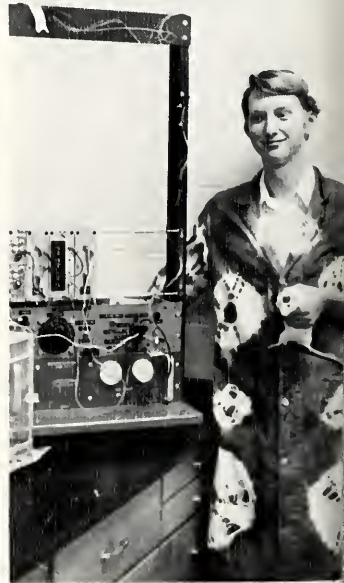

Field trips were also a part of the science classes. The classes went to places such as the Baer Field tower, and the National Guard Armory where they learned of technological processes. The student did many experiments during class. One experiment took place when a hot air balloon was launched successfully for the first time this year.

Kim Johnson, a sophomore, demonstrates a poster she made in Tobacco, Alcoholics, and Narcotics class. She used many different pictures from magazines to make this collage.

Rick Fredbloom, a senior holds up a test tube and examines it while probably doing an experiment in Chemistry class.

Richard Allegar works with the existence of Pain and Pleasure centers in the brain of a rat.

All the Science classes worked together in order to complete this display case in the commons.

Pam Moore, Junior, drops a worm down toward the gardner snake whilz Mirhelle Feeley, Junior holds open the lid for her.

In the Planetarium, Mr. Ronald Kuhn shows how he can make things look really true to life just by pushing a few buttons. As shown in the picture,

Mr. Kuhn can make lightening, have the moon shining, and also show the constellation Orion the Hunter. They really do look real.

Richard Allegar, a senior, is performing an Electrical Stimulation of the Hypothalamus to determine the Existense of Pain or Pleasure Centers of the brain. In plain English, he is doing an experiment to try and find the different Pain and Pleasure centers of the rats brain.

Mr. Fiohr, a biology teacher, carefully lowers his hand down to touch his friend, the gardner snake, while everyone else watches eagerly in the background.

Jeff Wills, a junior, looks through a spectroscope and sees different colors in a Chemistry class.

Bob Davis, Dale Trainer, and Tom Drake work on an experiment in Physics class.

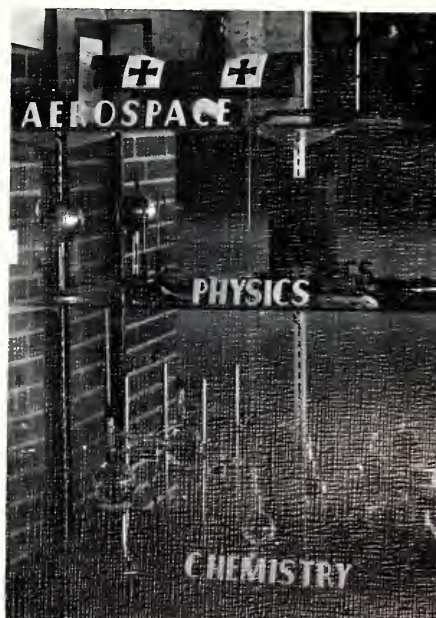

During a Chemistry class, Todd Johnston, a junior, studies a specimen through a microscope to see exactly what it looks like when it is magnified. Veerry Interesting!

classes challenging and interesting

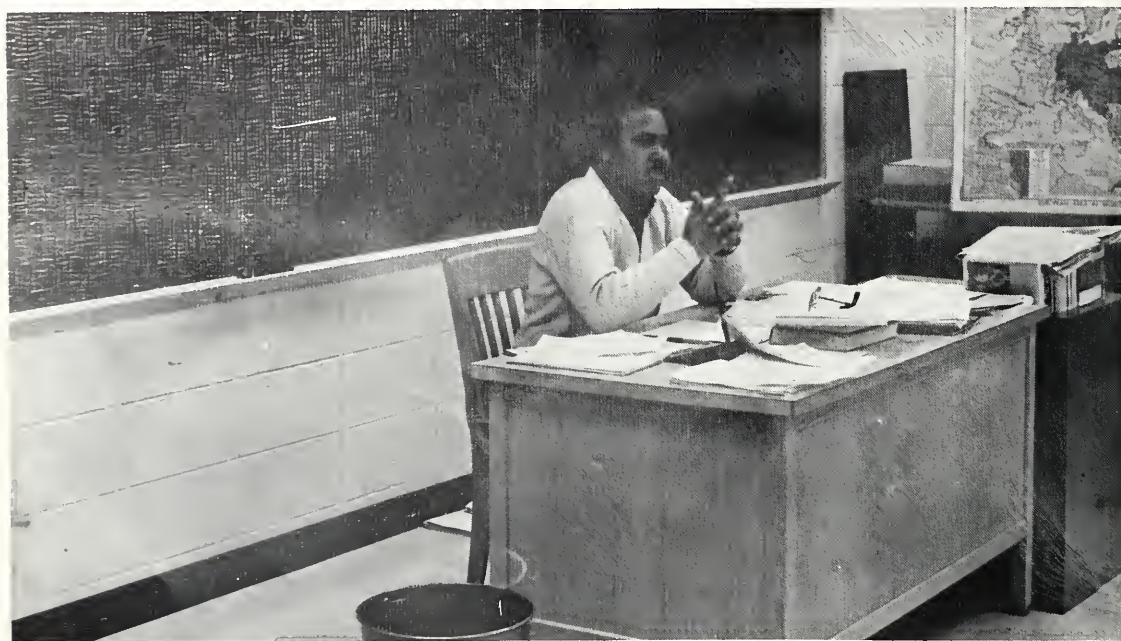

The students from Mr. Baker's Aero Space class go on a field trip to Smith Field to examine a helicopter. The Aero Space students also tried to launch a Hot Air Balloon and they were successful.

This is the rest of the display case that the Science students worked on for the commons.

Political elections, speakers, historic and current

Mr. Epps discusses each one of the three branches of today's government which are, the Executive, the Legislative, and the Judicial systems.

"The objectives of the Social Studies department is to try and meet state requirements, that is, to teach what the state thinks the students should learn."

Although most Bruin teachers tend to concede this, they argue that the department has a profound effect on the shaping of students. A Northrop teacher comments, "We need to acquaint students with our nation's background... where it might be headed. Hopefully, we can help them lead a meaningful life in this country."

Greater use of audio-visual materials have been stressed in many classes, "since kids are so visually oriented they tend to soak up things better through television and movies rather than in the lectures situation." However, lecturing is still an integral part of the department.

Also this was a year of new textbooks, textbooks which explored the 'why' aspects of history. Dealing with things topically and examining the reasons and effects of history can prove to be more stimulating than the standard textbooks in which straight facts were supplied.

Still, despite the changes the Social Studies department must remain true to Americanism if it is to remain true to its students. A Bruin student elaborates, "It is necessary for people to be aware of who they are and where they came from."

Donna Daub, a junior, goes over her assignment to make sure she didn't make any mistakes. Donna is in Mr. Weber's World Geography class.

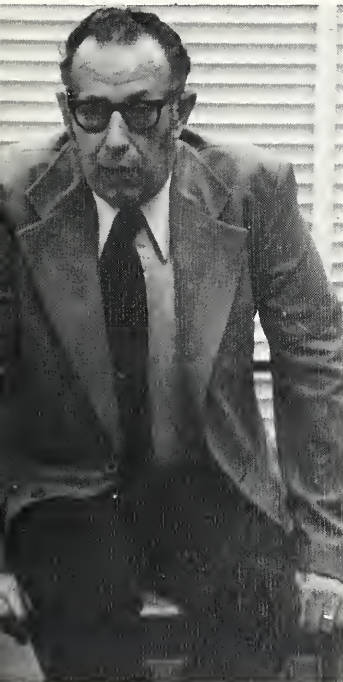

events, make good discussion material

Students in Mr. Dille's U.S. History classes made up questions on the Constitution, World Wars I and II, and also on the black revolution and then played baseball with those questions.

Dale Ramsey, a sophomore, looks over his paper in his Geography class. He tries to find his errors.

Mr. Donald Harris talked to Mr. Dille's History classes during the primary elections.

Mr. Paul Diehl, a student teacher, made many friends while he took over Mr. Dille's U.S. History class for about nine weeks. The students learned a lot from Mr. Diehl, and Mr. Diehl learned a few things, also.

Tools, machines help students in Industrial Arts

Mark Hamilton, a senior, works on an electric motor during his spare time during class. There are many different kinds of motors that the students can work with.

Gary Balough, a junior, is using a jointer to straighten his wood project during class.

A ruler and a T-stick are being used by Jerry Gunkel during drafting class.

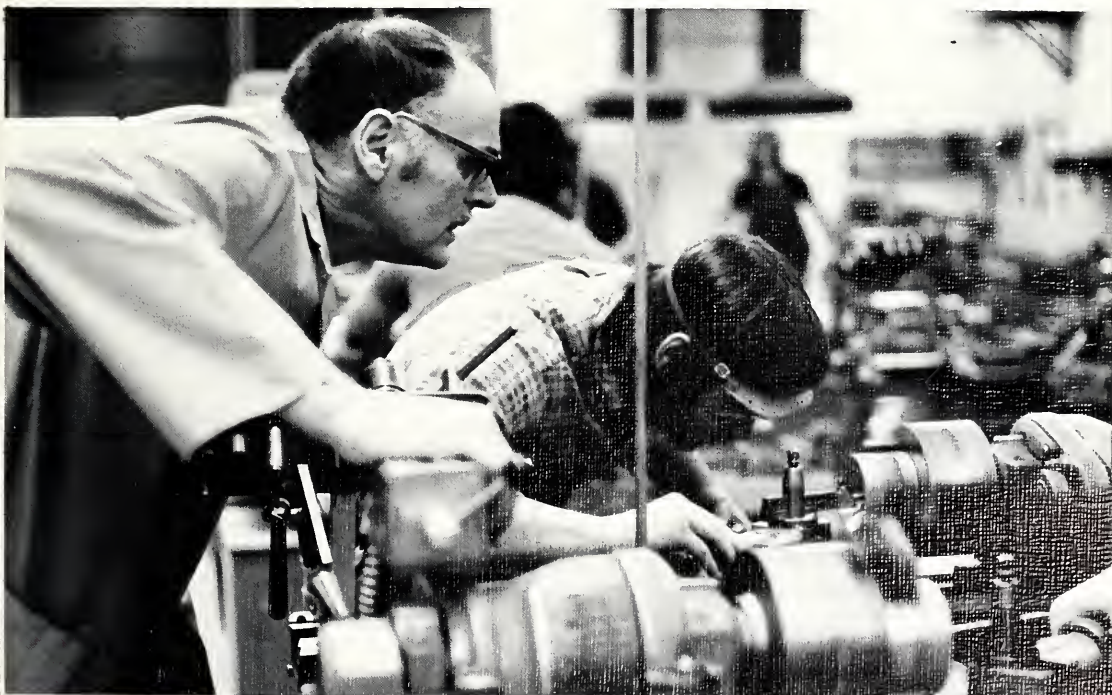

Tom Steenport, a junior, attaches a hinge to the piano bench that he made in his Woods class. The piano bench was only one of the projects that Tom made in class.

A pair of goggles are worn by Kathy Hill, a senior, to protect her eyes from any metal that might fly around. She is using a file on a metal lathe.

The Industrial Art Department was again headed by Mr. Marvin Todd. There were no new classes added to the industrial Art's Department this year but they started something new. They worked on making name tags out of plastic materials. The Industrial Art Department has no required classes for any grades. Mr. Todd suggested that if anyone is interested in the field of Industrial Arts, that they should take as many mathematics courses as possible. There was no new equipment bought but they do plan to purchase a new jointer during the next school year.

Classes are offered to both guys and girls. The classes that are offered are Drafting, Electronics, Metals, Power Mechanics, and Woods. Drafting is available for four years, Power Mechanics is offered for three years. Metals and Woods are offered for two years and Electronics is offered for one year.

Mr. O'Brien is watching one of his students during one of his Metals classes. Brian Henry, a junior, is working on a bearing pack. A bearing pack is only one of the many pieces of equipment that is used in the Metals classes.

Students cook their favorite food, sew a new

Northrop's Home Economics Department which was headed by Mrs. Hewes, is the largest Home Economics Department in Fort Wayne. The other Home Ec Teachers were Mrs. Freck, Mrs. Yoquellet, Mrs. McKee, and Ms. Ely.

There will be two new classes offered next year. Learning Lab and Lounge will be for two hours in one semester. It will be an individual type of class where they will have 700 different units to choose from to study. Singles Living is also a new class. It will only be offered for one semester. Insurance, furniture, shopping for food and clothing, caring for clothing, budgeting, how to prepare foods, and how to be on time are only a few things which will be taught in Singles Living.

The Housing classes went on a field trip to the Home and Patio Show in Glenbrook and the Foods classes went to Country Kitchen. Foods 4 went to Indiana and Michigan where they were served hors d'oeuvres.

Many of the teachers had speakers talk to their students on many different things. The speakers spoke on such things as marriage, appliances, child birth, breast cancer and food poisoning.

The only class that was available to take this year that will not be available next year is Foods Chefs.

Kathy Ward is demonstrating one of her recipes in her Foods class. She is showing how she prepares icing for a German Chocolate cake.

Jenny Schwieter, a junior, is concentrating very hard on her sewing project. Jenny is working on an outfit that she has chosen for one of her projects for a class grade.

Jeff McGraw, a senior, is busy mixing some ingredients together in a bowl.

Junior Mike Patton ices a cake in Foods' Chefs class.

Kathy Smith, a sophomore, is busy pinning two pieces of her material together. Kathy is following the pattern as closely as possible so as not to make a little mistake that might make it look all wrong.

June Smith, a junior, is concentrating on stirring her recipe on the stove.

June must keep stirring the mixture or it will stick to the pan.

Twenty three students win awards in the

The head of the Art Department was Mr. Robert Johnson. The other Art teachers were Mr. Tommy Bullock and Ms. Margaret Whonsetler.

There were no new classes this year, but next year things will be different. Students will be able to choose a specific area in art that they would like to work on for each semester.

In the Scholastic Art Award contest there were many winners from Northrop. Tina Pond, a senior, won two Hallmark Seals awards. The Hallmark Seals awards were the two highest awards and only five were awarded. Mary Ann Boehme, Melissa Clark, Marsha Collar, Barrie Fleetwood, Chuck Kaiser, and Gary Shaver were Gold Key Finalists. Gold Keys went to Tim Becktell, Melissa Clark, Sandy Fleschner, Freda Jett, Tina Pond, and Debi Sheele. Honorable Mentions were presented to Tom Votaw, Chuck Kaiser, Denise Nichols, Greg Deville, Dani Burch, Teri Bean, and Emalee Bishton.

With all awards totaled, Northrop students took 23 awards in the Regional Art Exhibit, which were more than any other school in the region.

Bob Manley, senior, works very carefully trying not to mess up his clay sculpture in Mr. Johnson's basic art class.

Kathy Wyss, a senior, is painting on her acrylic paint project in advanced Art class. She looks very interested in the type of art work she is doing.

Sue Wilson, a senior, works on a painting using India ink in Art Class.

Judy Burroughs, a senior, takes her time while working in Art class. She is working on her relief painting in her third year of Art.

Regional Scholastic Art Exhibit

Laura Ennis, senior, works on her construction project.

Jim Roembke finishes up his pottery assignment that he's been working on in his basic art class.

Band and Orchestra students work over time in Karry Staller, a sophomore, reads and plays the music on his baritone. Karry is a member of the Varsity Band which practiced during school and also put on many concerts after school.

The instrumental section of the Music Department contains seven different bands and a new class in Electronic music.

We also have a first rate Orchestra which put in many long hours of practice to produce an excellent musical production, "Hello Dolly".

The only temporary bands are the Mighty Marching Bruin Band which plays at all the football games, and the Pep Band, which plays for the basketball games.

With NISBOVA, our second year Jazz Band received top rating. At the Elmhurst Jazz Festival this year, the Jazz Band won High Band rating with a stiff competition of over 20 outstanding bands from all around.

Also we have the Varsity Band for sophomores and the Concert Band which is for the juniors and seniors.

A special thanks goes to junior Tom Wolfe, with flute in hand for a special showing at the Indiana Young People's Philharmonic Symphony.

The Orchestra had a large part in the different concerts last year. Each member of the Orchestra had to work hard to keep his instrument in tune and also in time with the other instruments.

Gary Paugh, a senior, plays the trombone in his band class. Gary is in Concert Band.

order to get ready for concerts, plays, and musicals

The students who make up the wind sections of the Concert Band have to work very hard on their individual parts. They have to make sure that their instrument is in tune. They also have to make sure that they are keeping the right time with the rest of the band during class.

The larger instruments of the Orchestra, such as the cello, are played by Richard Hambrock, Lore Kellaw, and Chuck Peters, all juniors. Dave Beltcher, a sophomore, is observing.

Mark Timmis, a junior, plays the snare drum while Steve Torr, a junior, plays the bass drum

ceived top rating' at the NISBOVA contest.

The Concert choir form a Christmas tree with candles.

Mr. Bill Heins, choir director, leads the students while they are practicing. The students are all in training which is made of mostly sophomores.

Madrigals practice movements and music for one of the songs in the Christmas concert. Madrigal singers are a highly selected group of students chosen by Mr. Bill Heins.

This Year's Music Department presentations turned out to be tremendous success. It seems that luck rode with them everywhere they went.

At the NISBOVA contest, Swing Choir received top rating. Also during the Indiana State Swing Choir Contest they received I superior.

The Madrigal Singers, which is normally an after school activity but will now be offered during the school day, also received I superior at NISBOVA. The Swing Choir and Madrigal Singers combined, presented more than 25 public appearances throughout the Ft. Wayne area.

The Concert Choir, which is one of the larger choir groups, had various field trips throughout the year. Among some of these were the caroling trip to Lincoln National Bank, the "Choir Day" at Ball State, and a Choir Festival at Concordia.

With the Girls Choir in their gowns and the Training Choir, it topped off the whole year as a musically inclined one, although they only made four public appearances.

25 different places in Fort Wayne

During one of many concerts, the Concert choir sings one of their favorites under the direction of Mr. Bill Heins.

Cathy Eckman, a sophomore, is looking through the card catalog to find the book she needs.

John Fox, a senior, is in Mr. Weaver's A.V. class. The opaque projector, along with others, are machines that the students learn how to work.

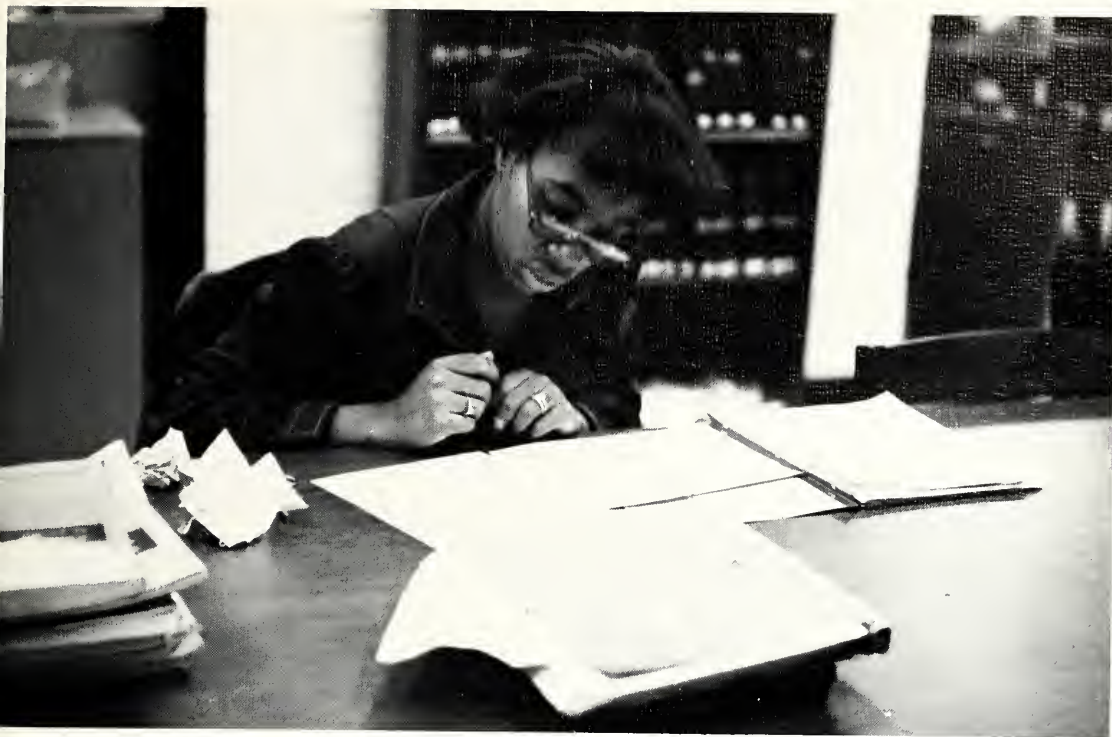

Students do research, learn to run A V machines

Paul Taylor, a senior, looks very serious while trying to get a film hooked up on a film projector. If he doesn't do it right it won't work.

Many students use the library to look for and use the research materials available to students.

Marsha Dance, a senior, is working independently in the library, in order to get her research paper completed on time. She uses many encyclopedias, magazines, and newspaper clippings for her work.

Roberta Mercer, a sophomore, looks for books in the card catalogue and tells Gary Fink, a senior, the names of the books. They are both working on a report for one of their classes.

This year, the Media Center concentrated mainly on the Audio Visual aspects. The Media Center has between fifteen and sixteen thousand books. The Media Center also has a Children's Literature library which contains between three and four thousand volumes. No other school in Fort Wayne has such a collection.

There are also several thousand AV items in the center. Many of the books that were bought during the school year were requested by department heads. Mr. Kenny Crague, who is the head of the Media Center, stated that Northrop has a better collection of books than any other school in the Fort Wayne area, even though it isn't the largest.

The Media Center purchased five new display cases this year and has placed them in different places throughout the school. One is in one of the art rooms, one is in Industrial Art area, one is in the commons and two are in the Media Center.

The Media Center also purchased many paintings. These paintings were placed in the cafeteria, the media center, and in a number of other parts of the school.

The AV department is headed by Mr. Don Weaver, and they were busy with a pilot program on channel 39. The AV staff taped certain shows and then showed them to different classes.

Just Hogan, a junior, is practicing on the balance beam in gymnastics class. She has to concentrate hard in order to keep her balance and form.

The girls Physical Education classes had a different sort of year. Ms. Ruth Longardner, and Miss 'Sis' Arnold were the teachers of the girls gym classes.

Sophomore girls are required to take one semester of gym. Many juniors and seniors chose to continue taking gym. There were many classes offered to juniors and seniors. Some of the classes offered to juniors and seniors were Girls Individual Team Sports, Girls Advanced Gym, second year of Girls Gym, Girls Dance, and Girls Advanced Dance.

The Individual Team Sports, which is taught by 'Sis' Arnold, went to Gunner Elliott to ice skate. They practiced skating, figure eights, and other stunts. The girls also went to Hospitality Motor Inn to swim. They practiced diving, different strokes, and just regular swimming.

Girls learn new skills and practice old ones

Sherry Snyder, Debi Scheel, Gail Armstrong, all juniors, and Ann Comperet, a senior, compete against each other in Racket Ball in the girls Individual Team Sports class.

Racket Ball was only one of the many sports that the girls played during gym class.

Carolyn Bates, Rhonda Conner, Toni Moore, and Jean Cahill went to Gunner Elliot during their Individual Team Sports class. The girls enjoyed ice skating since it was something different.

Cindy Hornman, Patti Horstman, work together to form stunts in gym class.

The girls individual team sport class enjoy swimming at Hospitality Motor Inn.

Archery was only one of the many things that the girls' sophomore gym classes participated in. The girls shot the arrows to see who could get the most points. They also tried to pop balloons.

Gym classes work hard in school and away

Mr. Thomas Tom was the head of the Boy's Physical Education Department this year. One thing that was new this year to Northrop was swimming and ice skating. The Advanced Gym classes went swimming at Hospitality Inn and ice skating at Gunner Elliot. There was also a lot more co-ed things done this year than last year.

There were special "loop films" which showed the action of the different sports which the guys could watch. Northrop is the only school to have this type of films.

There was only one class which was required. Sophomores were required to take one semester, either first or second semester, of tenth grade Physical Education. Other classes which were available included Body Building and Team Sports, the guys worked in the weight room; Individual and Team Sports, covered all sports; Gymnastics, they learned gymnastic skills; and Advanced Gym, mostly ice skating and swimming.

One of the many substitute teachers who have helped the school throughout the year helps one of the guys on the mini-tramp. The guys worked on the equipment on the gymnastics deck.

Kim Wynn, a senior, is one of the many guys who had the opportunity to go ice skating during gym class. The guys ice skated at Gunner Elliott where they played hockey.

Ralph Lerch, a senior, practices climbing the ropes during his gym class.

Mr. Walleen was the head of the Learning Lab classes and Mrs. Allen was the head of the Special Education. Both classes used Audio Visual equipment. Tapes, records, and films sometimes helped explain things a little better than the teachers could so the students could understand them a little easier.

The Learning Lab is a class where students can work individually on a project or together with a group of other students. The students can work on about anything they want.

The Special Education classes wasn't quite as interesting as last year but the students did learn alot. The students worked with telephone books. They learned where special telephone numbers were and how to find someone's name and address. The students also made many bulletin boards during class time. Again, as last year, many of the Special Ed students helped wash the dishes in the lunch room.

Many students work and learn together in Mr. Walleen's Learning Lab.

Cooks and custodians work hard to cook student

There were two groups of people at Northrop who received very little recognition this past year which deserve a big thanks. Those two groups were the cooks and custodians.

The cooks made lunches everyday that Northrop students were in school for a full day. They served lunches to over 2,500 students. They made a large variety of foods because they tried to please all students and teachers. The cooks also fixed and served meals at all the banquets that were held by Northrop and Shawnee.

The custodians worked hard this past year, also. They worked hard to keep the inside, outside, and also the land as clean as possible. They had a hard job when it came time to cut the grass or shovel the snow. The custodians also had many problems throughout the year which they tried their best to cope with.

Both the cooks and the custodians deserves a big thanks from all the students. They all worked hard and did a great job. THANKS!

Jack Bennet, is the head engineer of the heating and air conditioning equipment. In his spare time he mowes the grass. And does many other jobs.

Veal Mowan and Richard Best are kept busy cleaning out halls throughout our busy school year. Both men and all the other custodians worked before the school year, during the school year, and after school was out.

lunches and keep the school clean

Emily Pressley and Dorothy Wetzel work hard each day to prepare the students lunches. All the cooks worked hard to make differend kinds of food.

Emily Newborn works cutting up celery to use for a salad for the students lunch.

Dora Dean Linn prepares hamburgers for today's lunch.

Ms. Sandra Todd and the Administration help

Ms. Sandra Todd is the first woman principal at Northrop and the first woman principal in Fort Wayne. She took interest in the wants and needs of all the kids and we all welcome her here at Northrop. You have done a great job Ms. Sandra Todd. Thank you!

This was Northrop's first year to have woman principal. This was also Ms. Sandra Todd's first year as a principal. Ms. Todd made a lot of changes throughout the year that benefitted the students greatly. Mr. Kurtz was assistant principal for another year at Northrop. Many students did not see Mr. Kurtz, but he did a great deal of work that helped everyone.

Mr. Mark Schoeff, the athletic director, worked very hard this year. Mr. Schoeff organized the game schedules for all types of sports. He has to make the game schedules for the games in the future years of the school.

Mrs. Donna Green and Mr. Mel Zehner were assistants to the principal. They helped assist Ms. Todd in her duties as principal and were as helpful to the students as possible.

Mrs. Grider, head of attendance, worked hard all year to try to keep students in school. She also tried to keep track of those students who weren't in school.

Mr. Kurtz, assistant principal, helps Mrs. Todd all year which keeps him very busy.

Mr. Schoeff, athletic director, organizes the game schedules for football, basketball, baseball, and track. This keeps him very busy.

Mrs. Grider, attendance, works hard to keep all the students in school.

Mrs. Green, assistant to the principal, helps the girl students with their problems

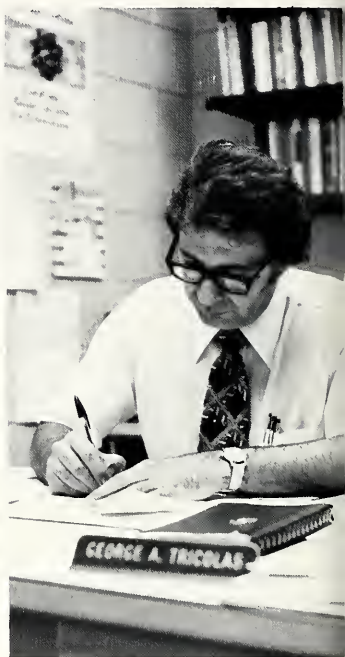

Mr. Zehner, assistant to the principal, keeps a smile on his face throughout the school year.

Counselors, school police help with personal

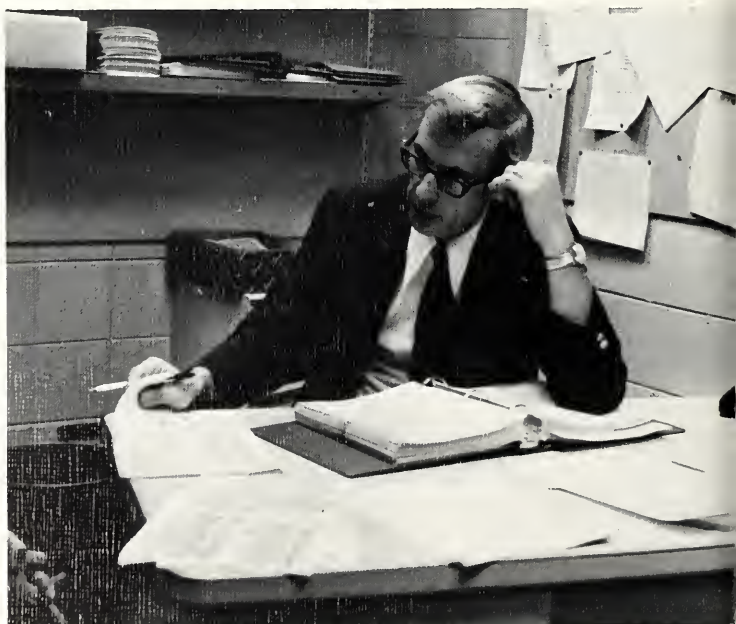

Mr. Banet, senior counselor, works to help the seniors with their problems.

Mr. Tricolas, senior counselor, works hard for the students as well as with them.

Mrs. Parker, sophomore counselor, works with the sophomores who can't stay out of trouble.

Mr. Mitchell, junior counselor, helps the students figure out their schedules for next year. He also helped with the Underclass Honors Reception which was held on April 30, 1975.

Mr. King, assistant to the counselors, helps patrol the halls and parking lot to keep everything in order.

Northrop had many good counselors this past year. Mr. Herb Banet and Mr. George Tricolas were to be senior counselors. They helped students choose the college they wanted to go to, what they wanted to do for a career, and anything else they needed help with. Mr. Banet was also the head of the Regional Vocational Center Program. He helped students sign up for classes down at Central High School through R. V. C.

Mr. Mitchell was the junior counselor. He helped juniors with their class choices for their senior year. He also helped with the student self-scheduling program. Mrs. Donna Parker counseled the sophomore students. She also helped with the Underclass Honors Reception.

Mr. King assisted the counselors and also tried to keep the parking lot as safe as possible.

Mr. Gary Schultz was the student Council Advisor. He helped sponsor the movie "Bullet".

Netmen finish season as runners-up

The 1974-75 tennis team consisted of eleven varsity members. Coach Keim said, "this years tennis team was the second best team that Northrop has ever had." The best players in singles were Tim Burke, Brad Oren, and Mike Beer. Mike was probably the best third singles player in the city. Mike is very strong, confident, and the leader of the squad.

Coach Keim felt that the best match of the year was against Concordia. The number 2, 3 and 4 singles won and our doubles won, making a good team victory.

Of the eleven varsity members there will be eight returning next year. Next year could be a good year for us, possibly our best. It all depends on our individual goals to improve different phases of our game.

Practice for the 1974 football season started on August 11. There were 108 guys that came out for the team. This was the largest turn out for any high school in Fort Wayne. Coach Doerffler was assisted by Howard Schneider, Tom Lindenberg, Mike Danley, and Joe Mahnesmith. These five fantastic coaches led this years team to a 7-2 record.

Mike Thomson and Sims Kelsaw were elected as Co-captains for this years team. The student managers were Jim Nemeth, Ed Stange, Bob Watson, and Kim Wynn.

Coach Doerffler felt that the last two games were a true example of the football team. He said that during the Snider game was when we started to come of age as a football team.

Tim Mossburg breaks into the open on a punt return against Wayne.

Coach Doerffler led the Mighty Northrop Bruins to a 7-2 season. Their two losses were against Laporte 22-9 and Dwenger 15-14. Northrop scored an average of 28.3 points per game and held their opponents to an average of 7.6 points per game.

When the North Division All Stars were chosen, Northrop had eight players chosen. They were Larry Shelton, Mike Thomson, Ron Wasson, Sims Kelsaw, Greg Orendorf, Phil Ford, Monty Dickerhoof, and Emmett Wallace. When All State Recognition was awarded, Larry Shelton was on the UPI and AP State Team.

Many thank yous go to Coach Doerffler and the assistant coaches for their fine work this year. They have made all these men into fine football players who worked hard for Northrop.

Baby Bruins end season 6-0

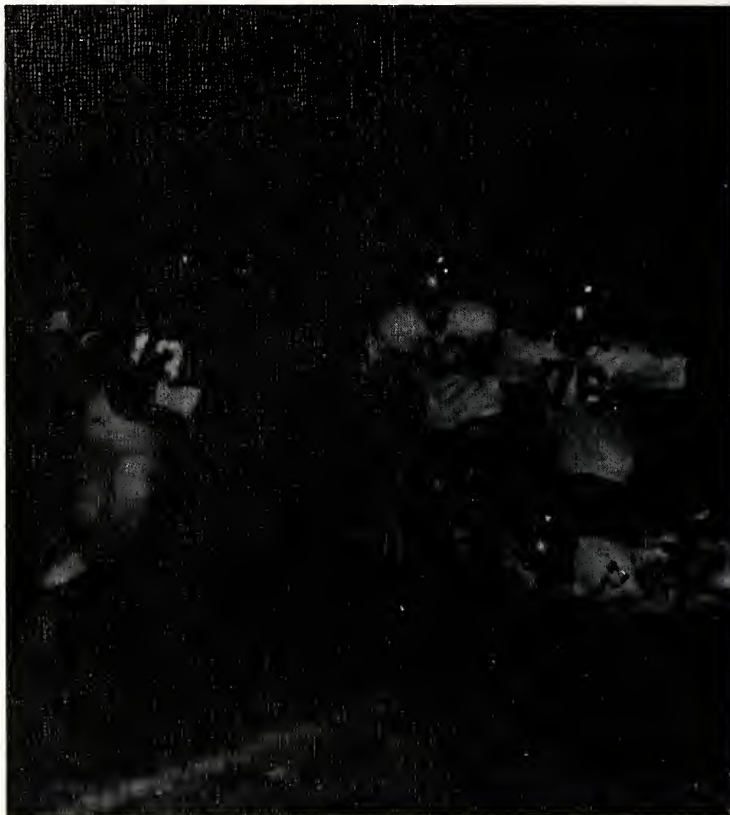

Coach Danley lead the 1974-75 reserve football team to a 6-0 season this year. All of the players started their conditioning in June. At the start of organized practice on August 12, there were 50 sophomore footballers. At the end of the season there were 41 players. "Only the men that really wanted to pay the price, stayed," commented Coach Danley.

Throughout the season the reserve football players played very good offensive football with an average of 28 points per game. On defense they gave up an average of 7 points per game. "I feel our best offensive game was against South Side and their multiple defense," stated Coach Danley. "Defensively, our last game against Dwenger was a great victory."

Steve Studer and Jim Cauvey were two fine managers that worked hard all season. There are no assistant coaches at the sophomore level. At the beginning of practice in August Coach Danley had the volunteered help of Coach Doerffler's brother Dean Doerffler who attends Ball State.

"Anytime that a team goes undefeated a coach has to be pleased. There were times that mistakes were made, but no one quit. Our players don't know how that word is spelled," Coach Danley commented. "As sophomores the guys learned what it takes to be a Bruin football player. Bruin athletes are a different breed of people and that's what keeps us on top."

Bruin Harriers turned in a 'superbad' performance and ended the regular season 22-0. The Bruins kept right in stride as they streaked through sectionals and regionals for both championship crowns. After being placed third in the state meet, the judges found that they had made a mistake and the Bruins were second.

Bob Davis became the first Fort Wayne cross-country runner to receive the I. H. S. A. A. Mental Award. Bob was also the Bruin's most valuable cross-country runner and was referred to by Coach Peterson as "My most dedicated runner." Peterson also said that "This is the best cross-country team that he had ever had in all of his coaching."

Through hard work the Bruins stayed ranked as one of the top five teams in the state for the entire season. The Bruins best meet of the season was their last S. A. C. meet of the season against North Side, Concordia, and Bishop Luers because the Bruins captured the S. A. C. crown and ran their best performance as a team.

Neil Arnold, a senior, shoots a free throw during the Dekalb game.

Practice for the 1974-75 varsity Basketball season started on October 15. The first game of the season was against North Side on November 29.

Coach Dille felt that the best games of the season were against Elkhart Memorial which Northrop won 60-51 and against Wayne and Homestead in the Holiday Tourney which was also won by Northrop. Coach Dille was assisted by Coach Stavret i and Coach Keim. James Wimbley was the captain of this years team.

The starting line-up consisted of Joe Helmkamp and Willie Spencer at guard position, James Wimbley and Tim Rogan as forwards and at center Maurice Drinks.

Marv Perkins makes an attempt at a long shot during the Garret game.

Coach Dille with the help of Coach Stavreti and Coach Keim lead this year's team to a 12-9 record.

The managers for the varsity basketball team were Bob Watson, Jeff Pepple, Max Byler, Marcus Mitchell, and Steve Welch.

Coach Dille said "I would like to thank the student body and adult fans for their continued support throughout the year." When asked about next years team he said, "I am looking forward to next years team. The guys will work hard this summer so that we will have a group of guys with good balance and that work good as a unit."

Looking a little undecided on what lay-up to use is Senior Maurice Drinks.

The official playing season opened Nov. 29, 1974 against North Side. Around fifty to sixty men came out, but at the end, seventeen men were competing for the various positions.

Coach Stavreti felt that all the players had about equal ability. Coach Stavreti stated that the guys had improved throughout the season. And he felt this was good, due to the many guys that were moved around during the season. "These kids gave all they had-with hustle and desire."

The team this year had no set captain, just whoever Coach Stavreti selected for the upcoming game.

There were three student managers that assisted the team, they were Steve Welsh, Marcus Mitchell, and Max Byler.

Coach Stavreti felt the best game the guys played this season was the one that Northrop played against Penn. The rebounds were good, defense was there when it was needed, and the offense was there to sink the baskets. All three seemed to come together for this game.

On October 15, practice for the 1974-75 Sophomore Basketball Team started. There were seventeen guys that made up the sophomore team, with some of them playing reserve.

Coach Keim felt that their best game was the last game of the season, which was against Wayne. "We played good defense and moved the ball very well on offense. We controlled the boards and caused Wayne to turn the ball over many times without a shot."

The co-captains for this years team were Mark Bienz and Jerome Moore. The managers were Max Byler and Marcus Mitchell.

"This years team was young physically. There are a number of players that could make the varsity. Their record is deceiving and with enough hard work in the summer, they could surprise some people."

The middle of the mat can be a lonely place.

When you get your man in a situation like this, the matches tend to get kind of on the short side.

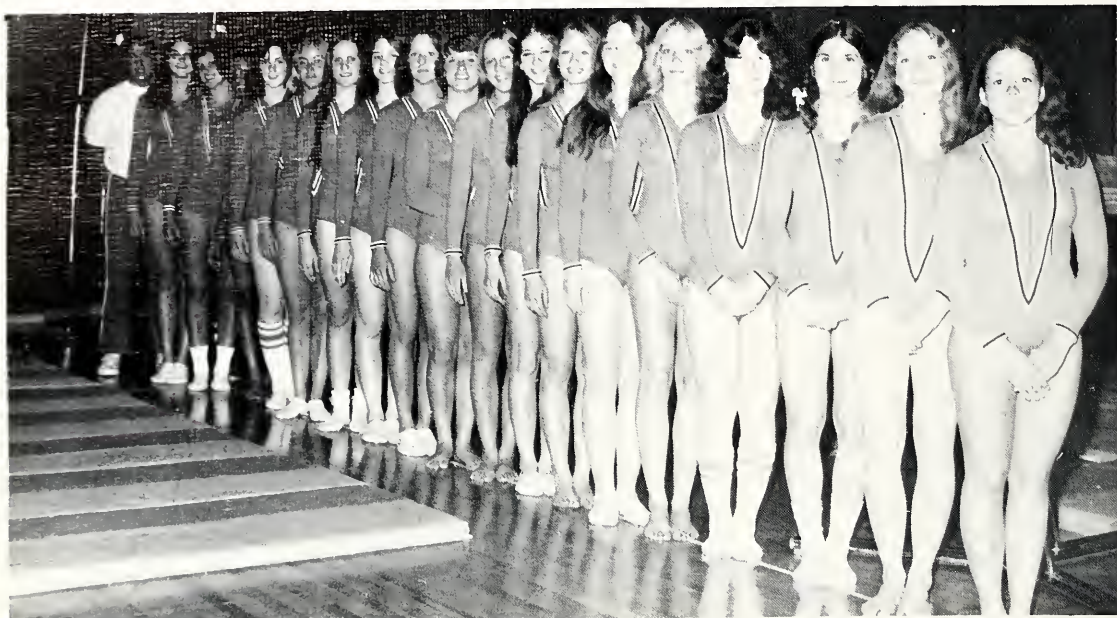

Fellow wrestlers can sort of gravitate between being cheerleaders and very serious students of the type of performance that the man on the mat is putting on and the style he is employing.

The 1974-75 gymnastics team started their season on the first day of November by defeating Dekalb. Although the team was fairly young their depth was good and this accounted for a winning season.

Coach Tom Tom was the head coach and he was assisted by coach Ruth Longgardner. Coach Tom felt their best meet as a team was against Snider which they won two out of three levels. The intermediate team went on to state by capturing the Sectional and Regional crown. The intermediate team consisted of Karen Dunbar, Carolyn Rish, and Ann Comparet who were all state finalists. Comments by Coach were, "We had a very good season but some injuries hurt us."

Coach Parker is shown during a time-out

This was the first year for girls basketball at Northrop. Practice started at the end of November. There were 35-40 girls that came out for the team and from these a team of 15 was made.

The managers were Kim Horn, Kay Murphy, Linda Pratt, and Wendy Thornson. Coach Parker was assisted by her nephew Fred Blanks.

Coach Parker felt that their best game was against Dwenger. She felt that the girls had good teamwork during this game and they achieved more that helped make them into a better team.

Coach Parker commented, "I was reluctant to become coach because of my lack of experience, but now it is in my blood and I am looking forward to next year."

All the pros say to keep your eye on the ball, but they forget to say keep your eyes open!

Addressing the ball properly and assuming a good, balanced stance will add yards to any golfer's drive.

Tom Drake tees off on a good drive.

Golf is a summer sport, but schools in Northern Indiana try to play it in the Spring. Northrop was plagued with one of the poorer springs as far as duffers are concerned.

Practices were rained out, chilled out, and sometimes almost snowed out. The competition season found Coach Bob Dornte's swingers still a bit stiff and a touch rusty.

Better weather helped the Golf team and the vast improvement of Steve Riley broke him into the varsity. Duffer Tom Drake won the Northrop Athlete Scholar award as he was named Valedictorian for the Class of 1975.

Cindermen finish 7th in state

The Northrop High School track-men finished another season stronger than ever considering the competition within the city and state. Although the competition was very strong this year the Bruins had a lot of outstanding performances: Brian Kimball in the pole vault: 16' ½", John Magley in the 880: 1:56.6, Bob Davis in the two mile: 9:32, and mile: 4:24.8, Keith Scott in the 300 vd. dash: 33.1 and 60 yd. dash: 6.5, Bob Pea in the High jump: 6' 4½" and Lore Kelsaw in the triple jump: 38' 10".

Also the mile relay who finished 4th in the state consisting of Roy Mills, John Powell, John Hartnup, and Keith Scott, along with the 1975 Pole Vault Champion Brian Kimball who vaulted an amazing 16' 1" to set a new record in the State.

John Powell was the 1975 Robert S. Hinshaw Mental Attitude Award winner for the entire state of Indiana. He was the first Fort Wayne athlete in the history of the award to receive it.

Keith Scott can't match Coach Peterson's enthusiasm after running a fast 440 at Northside's track.

Distance running is easier when you're ahead.

Front is the place that a track man is supposed to finish so the idea is to go there quick and stay.

All of these men put in many miles and very many sore and aching muscles to be a part of the Northrop varsity track team and it bodes well.

Brian Kimball uses the same length pole as everyone else, it just seems longer for him.

Good baton passes helped our relay team go to state and make an impressive showing there.

The girls track season started on April 16. There were 48 girls that came out for the team.

Coach Parker was assisted by Coach Bullock. Coach Parker felt that Rosie Junk and Tammy LaBorde were outstanding in that they were hard workers and record breakers. Karen Dunbar was the most coachable.

When asked when their best meet was, Coach Parker said, "Our last home meet was our best. We won and the girls wanted a win for our home stadium." She also added, "I'm glad we went as far as we did. I was glad that I had the opportunity to know them better."

Keeping ahead of the rest of the field is paramount to a good distance runner as we see here.

Rosie Junk caps girls' track season

Left, Karen Dunbar strives for the dash finish as Rosie Junk, above, sails over the hurdles for another win.

Girls' track proved to be a most popular sport and it attracted many young ladies for the first season. It had a fair number of successes in the sectionals and regionals with Rosie Junk taking a second at the state meet.

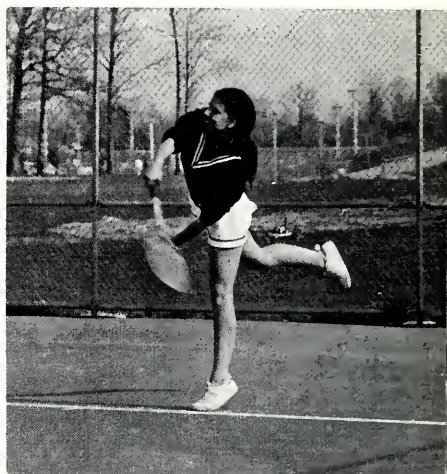

With the current success of tennis as a major spectator sport and the new popularity of the ladies in the game, Girls' tennis is certainly on the upswing.

Good position and concentration are important in tennis if you expect to win point, a game, or match.

A cold wet spring made a warm up jacket a good idea even during the match.

There were from 35-40 girls that came out for the 1975 girls tennis team. From these girls a team of 15 girls opened their season on April 9 against Snider. Coach Longardner led this years team to a 5-6 season.

Coach Longardner felt that their best games were against South and Concordia. In both of these meets good tennis was exhibited throughout the team.

This years team was led by Diane Hoffman the number one singles player and Julie Eisenach who was the number one doubles player. "Both of these ladies were easy to coach, competitive, and continued to strive toward improving their games," stated Coach Longardner.

This was the year that Northrop just about had everything together... But it was always just a little out of reach. The SAC race was a toss up as all of the contenders climbed to the top and then had a few bad games and slipped and the Bruins were one of those contenders.

But when the dust settled, the Northrop nine found themselves just a few points on the outside. Hustle marked the team, but there were some pitching problems and poor hitting streaks.

Sectionals seemed to be the place as the Bruins reached the semis against South and took a lead, but then the jinx came and Northrop was out of the tourney.

Volleyball opens a full girls' season

Practice for the 1974 volleyball team started September 5. There were from 45 to 50 girls that came out for the team. From these the final team of 18 girls was made, 10 of which were on the reserve team.

The volleyball team's first match was October 1. Coach Longardner felt that the teams best match was against Harding, Belmont, and Snider at Belmont.

Kim Montooth was the manager for this years team. Coach Longardner felt that Kim did a very good job.

Some people that really improved and did a good job were Christy Rish and Laurel Krienbrink. Carolyn Rish, Karen Wallenstein, Francine Harris, and co-captains Karen Dunbar and Ann Comparet were consistent throughout the year.

When asked about her comments on the season, Coach Longardner said, "It was really a delight working with them. They are super young ladies. I could not ask for a nicer group. We have come of age as a volleyball team because the girls skills and knowledge of the game materialized."

Coach Longardner also stated, "We as a team appreciate the support we got from the people at Northrop. Not only at home matches, but also at away matches and sectionals."

Intra-mural sports is too often regarded as a purely extra activity to a school's multi-faceted athletic program. It is here in the intra-mural phase that everyone is given the chance to compete.

And there is competition! Often you will see more will to win displayed and more real effort than is found on the varsity. There is a sense of belonging and a sense of togetherness in a team that has chosen to play with each other that is hard if not impossible to instill in a regulation team.

The Northrop intra-mural program is under the direction of Mr. Tom Tom and offers both team sports and individuals a chance to exhibit their talents.

The most popular sports are volleyball and basketball for the guys and a mixed gymnastic group. Any other sports that can encourage a following will be offered and Mr. Tom stated that he is always on the look out for what is wanted

Hard work and practice were the way to success for the reserve yell leaders, even without a crowd to lead.

Most people only see a school's cheerleaders as a very pretty group of girls who get to be the center of attention at sporting events. Most of the audience envies them their role and their recognition.

If the public could see the hard work and planning that goes into a cheerleading squad, that envy would be replaced by more admiration.

The 1974-'75 Northrop cheerleader squad began work a month before the rest of the student body with a practice schedule here at school. Then the squad went to a workshop in the southern part of the state for more intensive work and study.

Other countless hours were spent outside of school doing the things that were required as representative from the Bruin school. All of this work was enjoyable because of the attitude of Mrs. Cindi Harter, the group sponsor, and the leadership and hard work of seniors determined to make this year Northrop's best.

This year's Student Council was unusual in that juniors were elected to all the major offices. These people were, Rick Glover, President; Tim Burke, Vice-President; and Pam Hawkins, Secretary; Mr. Gary Schultz was the faculty advisor.

At the top of the list of activities sponsored was Homecoming Week. There was a girls' Powder Puff football game, the bonfire, various other contests, hall decorations, and, of course, the crowning of the queen, Pam Mason, at the football game against Wayne.

The Student Council sold mesh shirts and jerseys in the Spirit Shop for Jersey Week. They also collected food for the Christmas Bureau and collected donations for the Muscular Distropy Drive.

In April, homeroom representatives were initiated to give the students more voice in Student Council.

Sophomore Jill Mason works in the spirit shop, selling jerseys, t-shirts, and license plates.

Student council advisor, Mr. Gary Schultz is definitely not camera-shy.

One of the Student Council's projects was the Christmas tree, which represents the growing spirit at Northrop.

This year the Northrop Letterman's Club became the Northrop Varsity Club with the admission of Northrop's female athletes. The Varsity Club was active in many ways this year, as it sponsored a basketball game between the faculty and local celebrities and army recruiters; donated blood at the Red Cross; and helped sponsor the varsity awards banquet. The club also presented an award to Mr. Schoeff for all that he has done for Northrop athletics. The club's officers were Mike Thomson, president; Bob Davis, vice-president; Pam Mason, secretary; and Carolyn Rish, treasurer. The club was sponsored by Mr. Barrie Peter-

This years Distributive Education program is divided into three phases. The first phase is classroom instruction, one period out of the students school day will be assigned to D.E. The students earn 2 credits per semester for this class. On the job training is the second phase, this is the actual applied practice of the marketing and distribution process under supervised training. The time required for on the job training is at least 3 hours per day. The students are paid on an agree men with the employer.

A club called DECA is the third phase of this program. The club takes on many activities and projects throughout the school year.

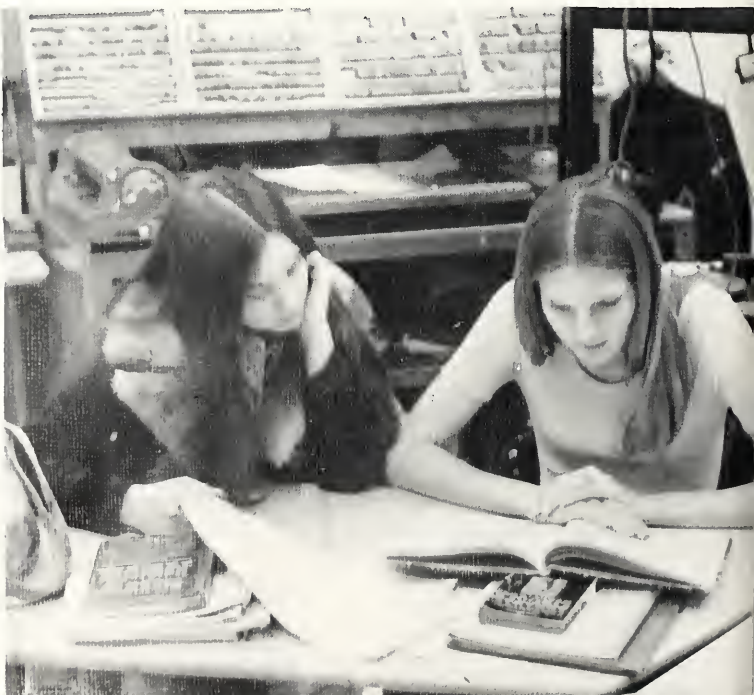

Next year the D. E. program is opening a retail lab. This will enable the juniors to operate a "school store". The store will provide the students with the training in five areas: management, accounting, promotion, sales and merchandising. The junior students will change assignments every 6 weeks to have a variety of job experience. The store will sell school supplies, candy, gifts, crafts, and clothing.

Representatives from the Lincoln National Bank were only two of the many employers that came to the Distributive Education banquet. All of the employers of D.E. students were invited to come.

COE has a productive year under Mrs. Hawley

Luellen, Mona Wiederhalt, Donna Offord, Cindy Falls, Deb Dickerhoof, Deb Bercot, Kathy Adams, Sherry Rudig, and Deb Jennings. Pat Fox, Vicky Elliot, and Gayle Welker were absent at picture-taking time.

The C.O.E. (Cooperative Office Education) class is a club in the O.E.A. (Office Education Association). It is a vocational office program which trains students for office jobs; students receive on-the-job training as well as classroom instruction.

In September, officers were elected. They were, President-Rhonda Mettert, Vice-President-Gayle Welker, Secretary-Cindy Falls, Treasurer-Pat Fox, Parliamentarian-Claudia Luellen, and Historian-Vicky Elliot.

Each person involved in C.O.E. has a job in an office. She has a supervisor who trains her, breaks her in, tells her what areas she needs help in and what she does well in.

In a nationwide C.O.E. contest, Northrop was honored in that Rhonda Mettert won national recognition.

And there they are... one of the most all together, the most soulful, and the finest styling groups at Northrop ... the 1975 Afro-American club.

Afro club promotes understanding of Black role

Black is beautiful, and here at Northrop Black is a color that goes very good with Orange and Brown, and with White, and with Yellow, and with Red.

Afro club at Northrop has been involved in projects to educate the school community as to the role that Blacks have played in the American scene. One of the prime factors in this education is a special convocation that examined the Black role in our American background.

The Afro Extravaganza later in the year presented a showcase for the talent and the abilities of Northrop's Afro club.

Afro club is sponsored by Mrs. Bemice Irby. She works through a group of officers elected from the club membership and with representatives of various community groups to keep the club a vital and a forward looking group.

Mike Suever helped narrate the Black Assembly, because the Afro club is Black and White TOGETHER.

Group singing has always been a large part of the Black heritage to the American way of life.

This years Audio Visual Department was very productive. Students who spent their spare school time working in the AV room are called AV service workers. One of their jobs is to transmit AV equipment (projectors, film strip projectors, cassettes, etc.) to be used by the faculty in the rooms. They also service and operate the machines for the teachers occasionally.

Many times throughout the school year the AV students filmed productions by the drama department on a video-taping machine. Two of the largest productions that the students taped was the talent show-ETC. '75 and Hello Dollv.

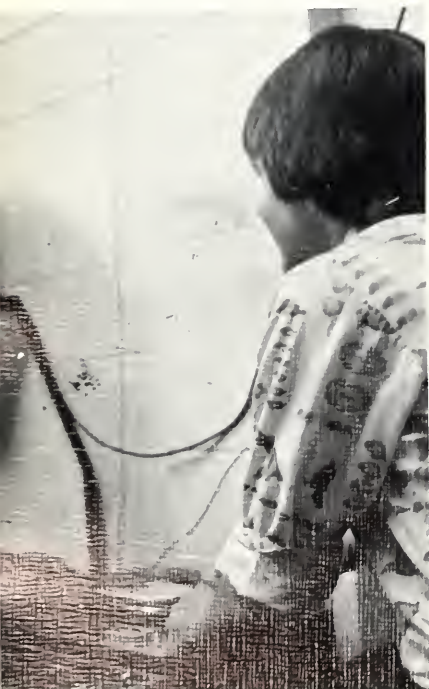

The officers of the AV Club are:
Chief Operator: Kim Hobeck; Assistant Chief Operator: John Fox; Operations: Mark Easton; Maintenance: Virgil Lawson; Production: Lynn Willer; Television Production: Tim Ormiston; and AV Production: Kevin Follis.

During the first semester the club started a pilot program which broadcasts Channel 39 through the school. The television production class uses the studio to make commercials and Newsreports, while the AV workers act as cameramen and Colsole operators.

Virgil Lawson uses the Thermo-master copy to make copies for teachers.

Speech Team

The Northrop Speech team had one of its most outstanding years during the 1974-1975 school session. The speech team brought home more trophies and ribbons than in the first three years of Northrop's existence.

Members started the year out right by taking a fourth place in a big meet at Wabash High School. Deb Stark and Joe Marshall led the way with two first places. The speech team went on to capture many more ribbons and trophies throughout the year.

Awards recipients for speech were Ola Ray-Outstanding Senior Speaker, Jay Rigdon-Debater of the Year, and Deb Stark-Outstanding Service in Speech.

Deb Stark and Bob Domer were elected captains of the team and will lead the charges in September of 1975.

Senior Joe Marshall is seen giving a speech to his speech class. Joe was chosen along with Janine Griffis to give the Commencement speech.

Junior Classical League

This year the Junior Classical League held various programs and participated in state and national conventions and its members were made eligible for scholarships. These people study the civilization, language, literature, and art of ancient Greece and Rome and what their influence is on our culture.

This year's officers are Kathleen Stewart, president; Eric Bruot, secretary; Jodi Cole, treasurer; and Trina Mirwaldt, publicity.

JCL sponsored the International Banquet on April 28. This involved all of the foreign language classes and included a Latin dinner with deserts from the German, French, and Spanish classes. Afterwards, dances from each of these countries were demonstrated and the Latin club gave a comical skit on the death of Julius Caesar.

Taking part in your community is one of the first steps to taking part in your world. There is no room to sit back in a world of need. Doers are wanted.

It is through the organizations in the high school schedule that people can be active in molding opinion and also take a big step to sharpening their own talents and abilities for later use.

Northrop has been lucky in having many involved students, in drama, in music, in publications, in sports, and in all of the phases of the school. But more are still need for our sake and for yours!!!

Find your niche, search for your role, or identify your talent. Then let's get it all together for everyone!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Senior, Mary Crumback works out a problem on a paste-up as senior Nancy Brown looks on.

The 1974-75 Yearbook staff was lead by Editor-In-Chief Mary Crumback. Mary working on her third edition of Bear Tracks was also editor of the opening section. Kim Thomas, a senior, helped Mary compile this section.

Other section editors and their staffs include: album: Deb Drake, Judi Adams, Dave Aldred, and Lyn Wilcox; academics: Judi Kemp, Deb Webster, Joe Helmkamp, and Tom Henderson; sports: Sandy Bienz, Colleen Cullen, and Lore Kelsaw; organizations: Brenda Parrish, Nancy Brown, Sara Keirns, and Liz Wise; and closing Pauline Kohls, Betty York, Lori Offord, Brenda St. Peters, and Roni Mullins.

The staff opened the year in September by deciding on a theme, assigning layout pages, planning the page ladder, and other busy work. After a month of debating they came up with the theme, Inside our structures, personalities take shape.

The theme is expressed in a spread in the opening section showing how without the different people (personalities) the building (structure) would be nothing. It would not have any life, activity, or meaning. Northrop High School's structure has no purpose without you and me.

This years newspaper had more in the way of completeness in stories and coverage, comments the advisor Mr. Sweeney. There was a lot more experience on equipment and style and there was more concern.

This is the second year that the Northrop staff has made up and printed their own advertisements and paper. They also started delivering the papers to the individual lockers this year. This is a much more efficient way to get the papers to the student body.

The 1974-75 "What's Bruin" staff and beginning journalism students sold a total of approximately $3,100.00 worth of ads. Advertising editor Gary Paugh sold approximately from $1,200.00 to $1,300 worth of ads. Mr. Sweeney feels that Gary is a commendable asset to the staff and would be to any staff.

During the school year, the newspaper staff went to visit a few elementary schools. They talked about newspapers and how and why they are needed. They also went to Ball State University for "Journalism Day." While there, the staff members participated in many different workshops concerning the different aspects of newspaper work and communications.

Ad manager Bonnie Griffith takes care of all billings and incoming money for the newspaper.

Photographers and Typists form the backbone

Sophomore Cindy Johnson was really a help to the journalism department as she worked as a composer operator.

Two areas in the Northrop publications program are teh composer operators and photographers. These areas didn't exist in any program in the state until a few years ago and they are now on an upswing.

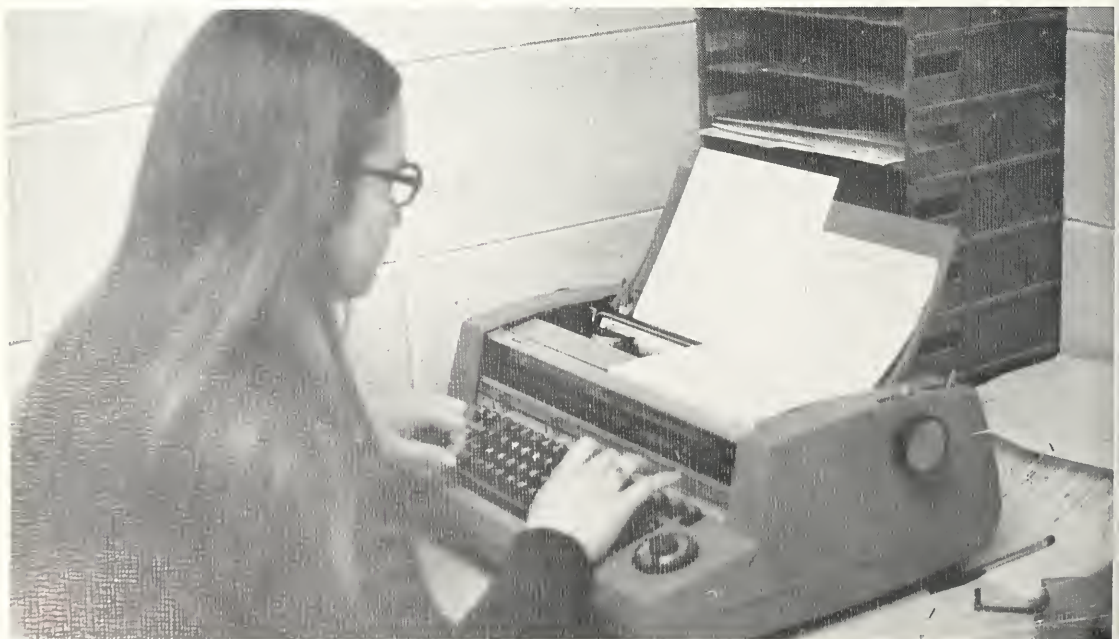

Composer operators are typist who are taught to use a special IBM computer type writer and they actually set copy that will appear in the What's Bruin newspaper or in the Bear Tracks yearbook.

Jobs for composer operators are relatively new in business, but more and more offices are installing them.

Photography is still in the growing stages at Northrop but is gaining in popularity. There is no class, so the people interested have to learn on their own time, either after school or during a study hall.

There were over twenty people in the photography program this year with the majority of them taking pictures for the yearbook and newspaper.

Judy, a senior, was an important part of the journalism department this year, working as a composer operator. Judy is shown typing

The 1974-1975 Twirlers were chosen in May. Like the Pom-Pom girls the twirlers went to Camp LuLendy with the MMB. The girls worked hard during the Football season to be sure their routines were polished. During basketball season the girls worked each week-day for a hour to get their routines together for the basketball half-times. Both football and basketball halftimes were highlighted by these very talented girls.

This year a new and different squad was added to Northrop. It is called the Flag Corp. The flag girls were used in the football season. The squad consists on only five girls this year, but these five girls did a great job. Next year the Corp plans on having a greater number of girls on putting on more performances.

Pom-Pom girls add spice to half-time shows

After passing the needed requirements, twenty-four girls were chosen for the 1974-1975 Pom-Pom squad. Chosen as captain was senior Brenda Parrish and co-captain junior Julie Eisenach. The girls sponsor was Mrs. Nancy Schliman.

In late August they traveled to Camp LuLendy with the Mighty Marching Bruins. That week together, the girls made-up routines that they used during football and basketball season. Not only did the girls work hard that week, but they also stayed after school during football season to practice with the band. When basketball season rolled around the girls worked each day for an hour to get ready for their weekend performances.

In April the squad went to a contest at Zionsville where they finished 7th. By going to this contest and seeing what other schools could do, will give squads in the future something to work toward.

The 1974-1975 Pom-Pom squad worked very well together and gave some excellent shows.

Holding flags during the Football season were Pam Moore, Tammy Klinger, and Laura Johnson.

The Mighty Marching Bruins highlight half-time

The Mighty Marching Bruins and pom pon girls are shown in a circle drill at the marching festival.

The Mighty Marching Bruins wrapped up their fourth season this year. Under the direction of Mr. Barry Ashton and Mr. Don Gerig, and two drum majors, which are Mike Fallon, and Steve Fritsch. The band was composed of ninety-six band members, and twenty-four pompon girls, and four twirlers, a flag corps and sixteen alternates.

The band marched at three home football games, and attended the Ft. Wayne marching festival. The band fesitval was held at Northrop, and featured eight area bands.

In preparation for season the band went to camp LuLendy which was located at Hidden Valley in Kentucky for six days of constant work. During the school year Sept. 3, 1974 to Oct. 26, 1974 the band practice after school from 2:45 to 4:30. Next year promises to be exciting with, a large number of underclassmen' returing. The band plans to return to Kentucky in August to begin preparation for 75-76 season.

Musicians play their hearts out at Northrop

There are approximately 52 Orchestra members. They performed in the Fall Kick Off Concert in November, Orchestra Concert in January, Pit Orchestra for the Musical in Hello Dolly and the Pops Concert in May.

Many members attended the NIS-BOVA Solo and Ensemble Contests in January with several of their contestants winning 1st divisions and entering the State Contest in Indianapolis in February. Two members, Daryl Togashi and Mark Wolfe played in the Indiana All State Orchestra. Nine orchestra members performed with the Fort Wayne Community Schools Honors Orchestra.

There are about 67 Concert Band members. They performed in the Christmas Concert in December, the Pops Band Concert in March, the Pops Concert in May and the Commencement in June. Here are some of the things that the Concert Band members do. Some belong to the Mighty Marching Bruins, Jazz Band, and the Basketball Pep Band.

entertainment at concerts and basketball games

The Pep Band, directed by Mr. Don Gerig, plays for the pre-game ceremonies. They also entertain at halftime during basketball season.

Jazz Ensemble I has become a prestigious group at Northrop High School. In addition to giving nearly 30 performances during the school year, the band participated in several of the toughest jazz festivals around. The band received a Superior Division I rating at the NISBOVA Jazz Band Contest and became one of four honor bands at the 1975 Elmhurst Jazz Festival. On the same day, bassist Chris Sjdwell was named the outstanding bass player of the '75 Festival. Only three members of the Jazz Ensemble graduate this year; hence, next year's band promises an even greater one.

One of the busiest music organizations at Northrop during the basketball season is our Pep Band. This 40-piece group provided music and enthusiasm at all home basketball games and pep sessions. Sometimes, when an extra surge of school spirit was needed, the Pep Band performed in the commons before or after school. Needless to say, this group of musicians was always willing to do their part to spur our team on to victory.

Even the professional music groups have a need to add personnel from time to time, and Northrop's music program is no different. The training choir served the need for the vocal music program and it was varsity band that acted as the feeder to the instrumental groups.

These groups gave young musicians the chance to perfect their talents, and to also have a group to play with. Both of these groups took part in the concerts and served as a public forum for those students not proficient enough for the concert groups.

Both Barry Ashton and Don Gerig took time to help the fledgling instrumentalists while both William Heins and Don Gerig added to the abilities of the singers.

Madrigal Singers and Swing Choir sing out in many

The Madrigal Singers, who meet second period, practice their routine for an up coming performance.

Shown performing during the Christmas Concert are the Madrigal Singers. They sing without accompaniment and they also are all members of Concert Choir. The group was reformed this year after being discontinued from the 1972-73 year. Their director is Mr. Heins, who also directs Concert Choir and the Training Choirs.

concerts in the Fort Wayne area

Sandy Middleton, Mark Wolfe, Tim Armstrong, Pam Collins, Joe DeCamp, and Judy Winteregg, all members of Swing Choir perform during Northrop's talent show, Etc. '75'.

The MADRIGAL SINGERS, who specialize in acapella music of the 16th and 17th centuries, have completed a very busy year. In addition to performing in four of the six formal concerts and "ETC. '75" at Northrop, they presented programs for many civic and church organizations, and were awarded a "Superior" rating at the N.I.S.B.O.V.A. Contest.

This year's Swing Choir appeared before more than 8,000 people in their twenty-five public performances. Early in the year, the group brought home the 2nd place trophy from the Bluffton Street Fair Contest. During the Christmas Season, the students teamed with the Madrigal Singers in presenting nine different concerts in the eight days before vacation.

Highlights of the second semester include the winning of the "Superior" award plaque at the State Swing Choir Contest, appearances at the Music Department Pizza Party and "ETC. '75", and the final Swing Choir-Jazz Ensemble Concert in May.

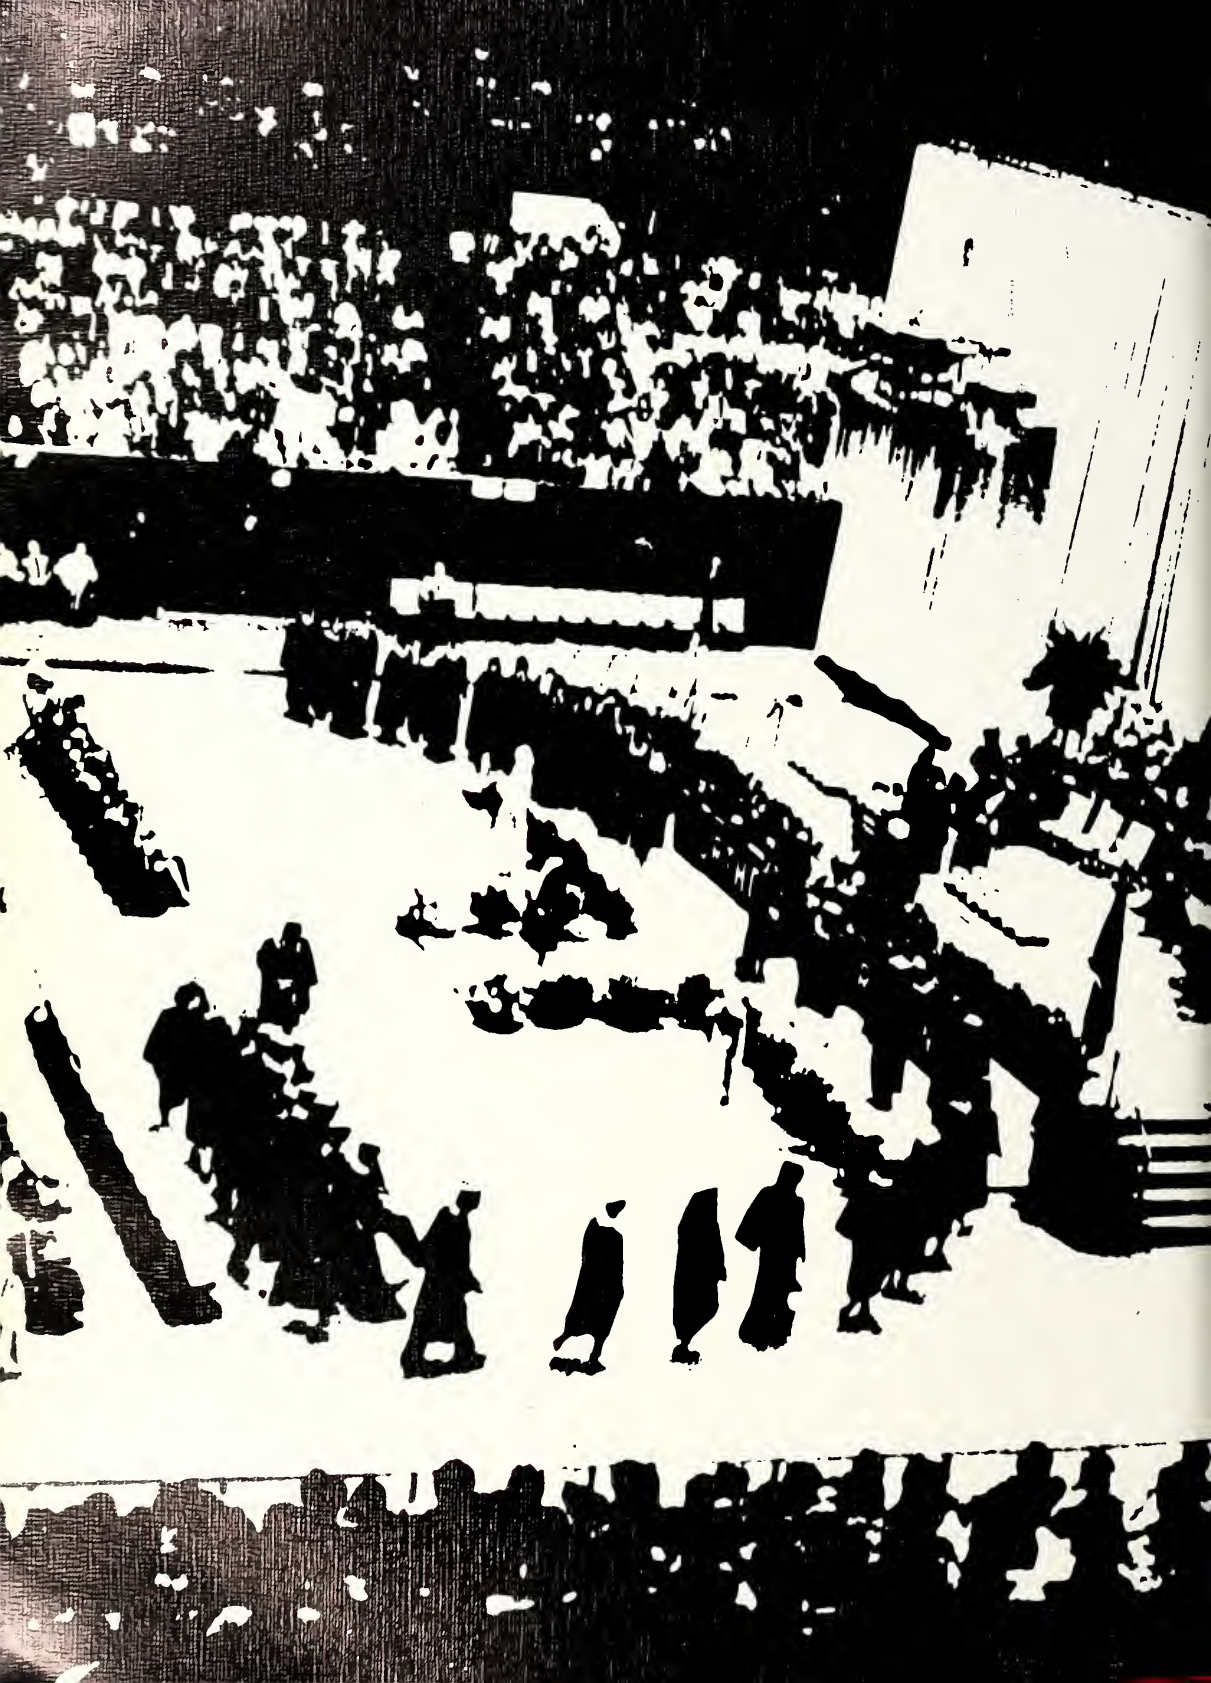

A section of the Swing Choir is shown performing during a concert they presented to the school in the fall which also included the Jazz Ensemble.
